NO. 144.

SMALLPOX OVER ALL THE COUNTY

SEVEN CASES ARE QUARANTINED IN MARYVILLE.

DOCTORS URGE CARE AND VACCINATION

Nodaway Has Had One or More Cases in Mild Form for Many Months, Health Officer Says.

Here are the smallpox facts: There are seven cases in Maryville. George W. Bickett, 822 North Mulberry, is the only adult who is ill, and the only case in town which is at all serious. He is not dangerously ill, according to Dr. F. C. Wallis, city physician.

The other six cases are so light that none of those who have it have been forced to go to bed. They are: A son of Mr. Bickett, a son of Ernest McClain, on East Fifth street; a small son of Sherman Reynolds, 1522 East Cooper, and the daughters of Shel Gatten on East First, William G. Edwards, 1102 East Fourth, and Sam Cozad, on East Second street.

No anxiety is felt by any of the city authorities because of the varioloid form of the disease, and because most of the cases have only a few poxes. Although the ward school entertainment was postponed tomorrow night, partly because of the prevalence of the disease, it is not thought at this time that any general ban on public assemblies will be made.

Not Confined to Maryville.
The disease is not confined to Maryville, but is prevalent over the whole county. Although Dr. F. M. Ryan, county health officer, has but one case under quarantine at this time, there has not been a time during the last year when there have not been one or more cases.

The only danger which he sees is that the mild form usually goes into the confluent stage, which is fatal, if the mild character is not stamped out. One death occurred at Elmo a few months ago, but the patient had pneumonia along with the smallpox.

The great difficulty which the doctors face is the lack of co-operation on the part of the people. And they are the only ones who have it within their power to stamp the disease out. Yet almost everyone objects strongly to quarantine and try to conceal the fact that they have the malady.

This feeling also has caused certain doctors to pronounce cases of smallpox, chickenpox, and most of the spreading of the disease has been due to that. One of the most stubborn epidemics in the county was due to the chickenpox diagnosis. Dr. Ryan has the names of two doctors who have done so in this county and their names have been reported to the state board of health.

Doctors Recommend Care.

If the offense against the public safety is repeated, the whole community will be quarantined, the president of the state board of health announces. He and the health officers of Andrew and Nodaway counties met recently and pronounced the disease smallpox.

When strict quarantine is observed, there is no more danger in going about the county or in and out of Maryville than there is in going to St. Joseph or any city, for they always have a large number of cases under quarantine there.

The city physician and the county health officer each unite in urging the people to be vaccinated, to be very careful, to observe all precautions of sanitation and cleanliness, and particularly not to object to being quarantined. If those three things can be put into effect generally the disease can be speedily stamped out, all of the physicians say.

The last issue of the Shenandoah papers report six cases there.

And Also Three Machine Guns Captured by the Carranzistas in Clash With Villa.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 18.—Dispatches report a clash in the advance guards between Carranzistas and Villa armies near Cananea. The Carranzistas claim to have captured one hundred and twenty-five soldiers and three machine guns.

GOOD ROADS MACHINES

NODAWAY TOWNSHIP BUYS STEEL CULVERT FORMS.

Three Now in Nodaway County Which Make Small Concrete Bridges Easily and Rapidly.

The trustees of Nodaway township have purchased a set of steel concrete forms for bridge work and will use them in the construction of cement culverts. This makes the third set of these forms in operation in this county.

About eighteen months ago Polk township purchased two sets from the Illinois Concrete Machinery company of Buda, Illinois, and began work under the supervision of the county highway engineer. They later found that they only needed one set and sold the other one to Lincoln township.

Nodaway township is now at work near Burlington Junction and L. S. Scott, the secretary of the company, is there for a time demonstrating his machinery work. The company makes a practice of furnishing one of their men on the first job while the local men are getting familiar with the machinery.

They claim that these forms are made to cast culverts and bridges in strict conformity with the standard highway department. They say also that they are very easily and economically operated, and that the large number sold throughout the state merit the approval of the state highway commissioner. The forms are quickly and easily set up and a job can be completed in much less time than by the old methods.

There is no movement just now of more importance than the building of good roads and it is well for those interested to investigate the merits of such machinery.

WILL MARYVILLE BE ON IT?

Jefferson Highway, From St. Paul to New Orleans, Will Pass Through St. Joseph and Des Moines.

Will Maryville be on the new Jefferson highway from New Orleans to Winnipeg, Canada? That is the question the autoists are wanting to know today.

The new highway, as selected at the New Orleans meeting held Monday and Tuesday, will pass through Shreveport, Denison, Muskogee, Joplin, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Des Moines, St. Paul and Minneapolis. It is promised it will be quicker and better and of a more permanent character than any national highway ever established in America.

The route from St. Joseph to Des Moines will either be over the Interstate trail or the Saints. The Saints trail goes through Maryville, while the Interstate passes through Albany and Lamoni, Ia. One of the directors of the highway association from Iowa is W. A. Hopkins of Lamoni, who is interested in the selection of the Interstate trail.

Maryville should make an effort to get on the new highway. The route has been unofficially designated "The Vacation Route of America," and that it will carry not less than fifty thousand pleasure cars alone from the first year of its establishment.

Dr. F. C. Wallis returned today at noon from St. Joseph, where he attended the fall convocation of the Scottish Rite.

FOR PLATTE PAGEANT

ST. JOSEPH PLANNING BIG SPECTACLE NEXT YEAR.

ALL COUNTIES INVITED

Local Programs in Northwest Missouri Towns and Three-Day Masque Proposed by Club Women.

The proposal for a pageant and masque to celebrate the eightieth anniversary of the Platte Purchase next September is explained in the following from the News-Press:

The idea of the celebration originated with a St. Joseph women's club—the North St. Joseph Study club—which went about promoting the idea in a most business-like way. The big idea is expressed in the following excerpt from a talk by Charles K. Soper before the Rotary club of St. Joseph, which accompanies the invitations:

"Eighty years ago next September the Indians sold and ceded by treaty what is known as the Platte Purchase. Out of it the counties of Nodaway, Atchison, Holt, Andrew, Buchanan and Platte were subsequently organized. Had the Platte Purchase been in Europe, it would have been an influential kingdom. It is nearly three times as large as Rhode Island and could easily support ten times its present population. On every hand, from Nodaway to Platte counties, there are hundreds of untouched opportunities which spell fortune to newer 'pioneers.' All we need is publicity and a thorough stimulation of mutual interest and activity to make the world aware of our advantages.

"With these things in mind a number of citizens of this city, acting upon the suggestion of a local club, presented the idea of a general celebration of the eightieth anniversary of the Platte Purchase to the Commerce club. The proposal has been endorsed by that club and by others, as well as by many individuals prominent in the civic, industrial, religious, educational, social, fraternal and commercial life of this city. Let us form a permanent organization throughout the Platte Purchase, with local organizations in each county and in this city. Representatives from these local organizations would constitute an executive committee to conduct patriotic and commemorative celebrations in different counties of the Platte Purchase, at intervals to be determined. Why not?"

"St. Joseph takes the initiative with the proposal to celebrate the eightieth anniversary by means of a three-day pageant and masque next September. It will require, approximately, 3,000 actors, of whom we expect our neighbors in the Platte Purchase to furnish half. This pageant will exemplify incidental Indian life, their songs, dances, ceremonies; the coming of the paleface hunter and explorer, the trappers, pioneers, settlers; early village life, costume entertainment, customs and it will represent allegorically and realistically, the development of civilized community life.

Products of Platte Purchase.
"The great auditorium will be turned into a vast exhibition of our products, and only Platte Purchase enterprises and taxpayers will be allotted space. Special attention will be given our schools and colleges, their methods, aims and accomplishments. Religious organizations will be given an unprecedented opportunity to tell what they have done, or are doing, to make this a God-fearing and law-abiding territory. The mayors of our towns and cities will get together and see if they have something to learn from each other for the common good.

"Each day will be devoted to some special purpose, with headquarters at the auditorium, so that every man, woman and child in the city at the time may see that the Platte Purchase stands for productivity, opportunity and advantage. The first day will be Pioneers' day, when we will do honor to those who survive and to the memory of those who have passed on their way; the second day will be Home-coming's day when a special effort will be made to 'show' them Missouri is the land of fatness; the third day will be Get-Together day, when various interests will get together in a better understanding."

A Convention in December.
The invitation is extended to all organizations within the Platte Purchase which are of a civic, educational, religious, fraternal, commercial or vocational character. The date of the convention will be early in December, if possible, depending upon the promptness with which acceptances are received. A formal invitation is unnecessary, and all organizations should be represented by committees of three or by a delegate empowered to act.

SCHOOLS DOING O K

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT HAS VISITED SEVENTY-FIVE.

NEW DAWSON TEACHER

Clyde Culture Club Starts Year's Work—J. Kelly Wright Promises Four "Missouri" Talks.

Bert Cooper, county school superintendent, has been very busy since the Teachers' association in visiting the rural schools. He has been to seventy-five already, most of them where the teacher is in her first year. He reports that all except a half dozen are doing well.

Miss Ora Simonton of Elmo has been elected teacher at the Dawson school to take the place vacated by the resignation of Miss Owen. Miss Simonton holds a county certificate, Superintendent Cooper says.

It was planned to organize a community center at Myrtle Tree tonight, but the affair has been postponed on account of the inclement weather. Morgan school will also form a lecture course and community center soon.

Mr. Cooper has the promise of J. Kelly Wright to give four lectures at some of the leading schools of the county. The county superintendent has in turn promised one of the great illustrated lectures on "Missouri" by Mr. Wright to the Unity, Morgan and Lasher schools. The dates will be set soon.

Mr. Cooper says that some of the schools which are not doing well are suffering from lack of equipment while others have incompetent or inexperienced teachers. He spoke favorably this morning of the plan proposed at the state meetings in Kansas City of putting the schools of a county under one commission like the county court, saying that some of the schools in this county are good examples of the need for a better system.

SCHOOL PROGRAM POSTPONED

The organizations include all engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen on all railroads of the United States.

All in the union have made the additional demand that the wages of the present 10-hour day be maintained in the 8-hour schedule.

New Haven Trials Wakes Up.

The other big surprise in railroad circles today was the news from New York that the seemingly endless New Haven conspiracy trial has become alive for the first time and made most of the directors who are on trial there sit up and take notice.

The reason for the increased interest was the delving of the government attorneys at length into the details of the acquisition of the Boston and Maine by the New Haven. This tended to bring out the evidence which should show that there was also a conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust law.

Most of the defendants were directors during the period concerning which the attorneys were asking such specific questions and the millionaires who are sitting in the prisoners' docket showed the first real concern for the proceedings of the trial today.

SURVEY PRAISES MISSOURI

Leading Welfare Magazine Says State Takes First Rank in Fight on Tuberculosis.

The Survey, New York, the national weekly for the common welfare, on the first page under the caption "Gaining on Tuberculosis in Missouri," says:

"With one dissenting vote, the late Missouri Legislature passed a program of anti-tuberculosis legislation that takes Missouri from a place near the rear and puts her in the very front rank of states in the fight against this disease.

"The only previous action by the state for the control of tuberculosis was provision for a state hospital for consumptives at Mt. Vernon, and an enabling act to permit adjoining counties to establish joint tuberculosis hospital districts. The latter was knocked out by the Supreme Court.

"The new legislation consists of five bills, two of which apply to the state as a whole and three to the extensive lead and zinc mines in south and southwest Missouri, where the death-rate from tuberculosis is higher than at almost any other point in the United States. The annual death-rate at Webb City, in the heart of this mining district, is 46 per 10,000, twice as high as the normal tuberculosis death rate of any city in the Union of over 10,000 population.

"One of the two bills of general application provides for state-aided county tuberculosis hospitals. The other permits city councils and county courts to employ visiting nurses for tuberculosis cases, authorizing them to disinfect rooms or houses that have been inhabited by tuberculosis patients.

"The governor vetoed the appropriation for one of the three new villas authorized by the legislature to be constructed at the state hospital at Mt. Vernon. He vetoed also an appropriation of $5,000 to conduct a state wide campaign of education.

"The success of this legislation is due to a long campaign by the Missouri Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis, carried on by its secretary, Dr. Walter McNab Miller."

NEED OF AERIAL PREPAREDNESS

Public Must Interest Itself,
Says J. A. Steinmetz.

CHECK SUBMARINE DANGER.

Expert Declares That After Study of Craft an Immense Popular Subscription Should Be Raised—Tells What People of France and Germany Have Done in That Respect.

Philadelphia.—In all steps taken to insure military and naval preparedness on the part of the United States the greatest stress should be laid upon the development of the nation's aerial and submarine equipment, according to Joseph A. Steinmetz, president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania. It is not enough, he asserts, that the president and the secretaries of war and the navy are pledged to a serious program of national preparedness for defense, wherein the aeroplane shall play an important part. The public must do its part. It must study the aeroplane and the submarine in the light of the showing which these two branches of warfare have made in the European war. And this study, Mr. Steinmetz contends, must result in immense popular subscriptions of money which will place the United States upon an equal footing with other nations in this regard.

The war in Europe has shown that an army might as well try to do battle without the aid of aeroplanes as a blind man might try to fight. Mr. Steinmetz points out. Realizing this, the French and the Germans built their aeroplane fleets of today largely by public subscriptions and through public interest. "In February, 1912," says Mr. Steinmetz, "soon after the first employment of aeroplanes in the French military maneuvers demonstrated the potentiality of the air service, although the French government failed to allow the appropriations necessary to secure an adequate aeronautical organization for the French army, a public subscription was started.

"In every part of France the people—men and women, rich and poor, young and old and of all beliefs and factions—united their efforts with the press and political, social, professional and sporting organizations, and all contributed their share to give France a large aerial fleet. This public subscription brought 6,114,846 francs and gave France 208 aeroplanes, sixty-two landing stations for aeroplanes and seventy-five trained aviators.

"The public interest created by the subscription was tremendous and led to the immediate consideration of the aeronautical needs of France by the government. By April, 1914, the French army possessed 1,200 aeroplanes and twenty-eight dirigibles and most complete and efficient equipment.

"Germany's aeroplane fleet was built almost entirely by the public subscriptions started by the Aerial League of Germany in 1912, which brought 7,234,506 marks. The purpose of the league was to train within the shortest time as large a number as possible of aviation pilots to form a reserve and to encourage the general development of aviation in Germany. Following are some of the results obtained:

"The number of pilots was 230 at the end of 1912. It increased to 600 by the end of 1913. The constructors of aeroplanes were less than twenty in 1912; they increased to fifty by the end of 1913. The developments due to the efforts of the Aerial league led the reichstag to pass a plan providing for an expenditure of $5,000,000 for military aeroplanes in the following five years.

"During the first month of 1914 the inducements offered by the Aerial League of Germany led to the breaking by German aviators of all the world records. By the middle of July the nonstop endurance record was carried up to 24 hours and 12 minutes by Reinhold Boehm, and the altitude record to 26,246 feet by Heinrich Gerdlich. "More than 100 other records similar to these were made. For instance, Basser and Landsmann made continuous flights of 18 hours 11 minutes and 21 hours 49 minutes, respectively, in one of which Landsmann covered 1,335 miles. This is the longest distance ever traveled by man in one day. Among the records for altitude was the record of Otto Linnkeogel of 21,654 feet, which is about the height of Mount McKinley.

"Just as the people in every part of France and Germany united we here in America can do the same.

"The American national aeroplane fund will be used to train aviators, provide aviation corps for the national guard and naval militia of the states and United States possessions and put aeroplanes in use for the mail carrying service to inaccessible places, forming an aeronautical reserve, which, while being used daily for peaceful purposes, shall be ready for military service in case of need."

HELP IN HEALTH PROVIDED.

Care Against Fire, Panic, Moral Dangers, Noise and All Difficulties Being Taken.

Forty states of the Union have taken some legal action toward safeguarding the sanitation of public-school buildings according to a bulletin on "Schoolhouse Sanitation," just issued by the Bureau of the U. S. Department of the Interior.

"Probably nine-tenths of the existing regulation of this sort has come within the past decade," declares the bulletin. "Each state profits by the experience of 47 others. A law passed in one extreme of the country today is copied next month or next year by a state 2,000 or 3,000 miles distant."

Thirty-eight states have some legal provision regarding the school site according to the bulletin. Nearly all of these provisions are state wide in their application, and are mandatory in character. These provisions include the proximity of "nuisances," availability of the site, and size of the site. Nineteen states have laws prohibiting the location of school buildings within a specified distance from places where liquor is sold, from gambling houses, houses of prostitution, and noisy or smoky factories.

Thirty of the states have sought to regulate the water supply of the public school. "The revolt against the common drinking cup," says the bulletin, "has come within the past five years. Kansas was the pioneer, but other states followed rapidly, so that now half of the entire number have either a law or a regulation regarding drinking cups."

Some form of protection against fire and panic is found in 36 states. Blanket regulations, or the power to make such regulations, exist in 12 states. General or special construction with a view to fire prevention is dealt with in 10 states. Thirteen of the states have something to say as to corridors and inner stairways; 24 have regulations as to exits, and 25 as to exterior escapes 10 mention alarm and fire-fighting apparatus; and 11 states provide by law or regulations for fire drills. Less than half the states, according to the bulletin, have any legal word on ventilation. Thirty cubic feet of fresh air per pupil per minute is the conventional amount specified.

In the matter of cleaning and disinfecting, slightly more than one-fourth of the states have regulations which control conditions to any degree outside the districts themselves. Some of the laws and regulations are almost model; others are wholly inadequate. A few state boards of health have done notable work in this particular. Special cleaning and disinfecting follow in seven states immediately upon discovery in any school of any of a certain class of diseases. "Three of the states have a special list of specific diseases that call at once for action. This list includes scarlet fever, smallpox, and diphtheria in all three states, measles in two, and infantile paralysis epidemic spinal-meningitis, and bubonic plague in each."

OBITUARY OF W. E. CRAWFORD.

William E., son of Israel and Elizabeth Crawford was born in Green county, Pennsylvania, October 3, 1842, and departed this life at his home in Graham, Mo., Nov. 17, 1915, at the ripe age of 73 years 1 month and 14 days.

Mr. Crawford has been married three times, his first marriage having occurred in Pickaway county, Ohio, to Rebecca A. Hanks, to which union were born four children, John H., Charles A., Elizabeth, the wife of Abraham Lantz of Andrew county, this state, and Mary, the wife of Edward Bell. Mrs. Rebecca Crawford died in Hughes township, and Mr. Crawford married Prudence Campbell, by whom he had two children, Josie, the wife of B. N. McGrew, and Edna, the wife of Charles Goff of White Cloud township, this county. After the death of Mrs. Prudence Crawford, Mr. Crawford married Ida M. Tyron, and to this union have come five children, Fred E., Lloyd, Ernil and Mimmitt, and Lela, wife of Elder J. E. Davis, Spokane, Wash.

Mr. Crawford was about 2 years old when his parents removed from Pennsylvania to Ohio, where he was reared to manhood and received his education, which was such as could be secured in the common schools. He was reared to the life of a farmer, and this, combined with stock raising, has been his life occupation. Practical and progressive in his methods, and energetic and industrious in his habits, his labors were rewarded with a due meed of success, so that in 1906 he was able to relinquish the strenuous work of the farm and retire to a comfortable home in Graham, where he lived until his death.

At Gravel Wall, Andrew county, in about 1874, under the preaching of Elder W. R. Trapp, he united with the Christian church and was a follower of his Master till called to his reward.

PLAN TO RESTORE LOUVAIN LIBRARY

International Committee to Attempt Reconstruction.

PRICELESS WORKS LOST.

M. Delannoy, Librarian at University of Louvain, During a Visit to London in Connection With Proposed Rebuilding of Library Gives Details of Damage It Is Hoped to Repair.

London.—The reconstruction of the famous library of Louvain, destroyed in part by the Germans, will be undertaken by an international committee of distinguished savants, artists and men of letters of allied and neutral countries. Viscount Bryce is at the head of the British committee.

M. Delannoy, the librarian to the University of Louvain, during a visit to London in connection with the projected rebuilding of the library gave to the London Standard the following details of the loss it is hoped to repair:

"The university was founded in 1425 and was a veritable child of the renaissance. No less a celebrity than the great Erasmus himself made two consecutive sojourns there. In the days of Justus Lipsius (1547-79) it boasted 7,000 students and had a world wide reputation. At the dawn of the following century it had Cornelius Jansen as professor and rector.

"Before the war the university enjoyed great prosperity and new institutions, covering all branches of human knowledge, were springing into being. There were five faculties—theology, law, philosophy and letters, science and medicine. The number of students approached 3,000. They came from all parts of the world and largely from America, but the majority were Belgians. Before his elevation to the archbishopric of Malines Cardinal Mercier was professor of philosophy there.

"As to the library itself, it contained 950 manuscripts, between 800 and 1,000 incunabula and more than 250,000 volumes. Among its more notable contents were a little manuscript from the hand of Thomas a Kempis, the celebrated work of Andreas Vesalius (1514-64), the father of human anatomy, given to the university by Charles V., and many beautiful miniatures and editions rare and unique.

"It was particularly rich in theological works. In a unique collection of letters, documents and pamphlets it preserved all that was vital of the great religious controversies of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries—controversies with which the university was intimately associated.

"The library also contained many beautiful specimens from the celebrated presses established at Louvain immediately after the invention of printing. The records of the university itself were a priceless possession. Among them was the papal bull of 1425 authenticating its foundation. The library, which was installed in the ancient Cloth Market, dating from the early fourteenth century, to which building had been added a superb edifice in the style of the renaissance, conserved a precious gallery of portraits of the professors and doctors associated with the university from the earliest times."

M. Delannoy was a personal witness of the destruction that overcame the famous city. He inspected the ruins of the library. Nothing had been spared. All the volumes had disappeared. In the streets of the town and far away into the surrounding country the wind bore about at its will the half consumed pages of the precious volumes and the scraps of irreparable parchment. The time worn boiseries en chene of the venerable Halle aux Draps were nothing but a flame.

"The world is fully conscious of the great task that is incumbent on it—that of rendering to one of the great centers of learning and true culture the means to continue its civilizing work. The more worthily it accomplishes that task the more will it show to future generations the respect that is due to science."

THE KAISER IS THE ACE.

And His Generals Are the Knaves in German Decks of Cards.

Berlin.—Germans now play skat and other favorite card games with pictures of Von Hindenburg and other popular leaders in the war instead of the conventional kings, queens and knaves, says an article in the Berliner Tageblatt. The writer of the article, after calling attention to the widespread popularity of such decks of cards, suggests that German be substituted for French in the expressions used in card games, eliminating words like "carreau," "coeur," "pique" and "treffe."

The new war cards have a picture of the Kaiser instead of the usual aces, while the four kings are the kings of Bavaria, Saxony and Wurtemberg, and the Grand Duke of Baden. The knaves are represented by German leaders, and even cards like the ten have pictures of notables in the war. Among the men whose pictures now figure in card games are Count Zep-pelin, Admiral von Tirpitz, Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, Captain Wed-dingen, Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, General von Falkenhayn and General von Kluck.

HALF SOVEREIGNS MAY GO.

Heavy Wastage on Coin Pointed Out by Economists.

London.—It was in the year 1810 that the authorities at the mint resolved to discontinue the use of the guinea and the half guinea, which were replaced by the sovereign and the half sovereign.

Now it is the turn of the half sovereign to be scrapped. Economists point out that the wastage on the smaller gold coin in circulation is much greater than on the sovereign, owing to the larger surface exposed in proportion to the value. Everything possible has been done to reduce the loss from wear and tear and to increase the durability of the coins, but the half sovereign still wears badly and is said to chip easily.

And now that "Bradbury's" (one pound notes, so called from the signature of the secretary of the treasury which they bear, and pinkies (10 shilling notes) are part of British everyday life the abolition of the half sovereign has many advocates.

RAISING GOLDFISH NO JOB FOR A LAZY MAN

Topeka Citizen Makes Fortune at It by Hard Work.

Topeka, Kan.—Ten acres of goldfish bring Eugene Cotte of Langdon, Kan., more ready cash annually than is cleaned up on the average 100 acre farm. But raising and marketing ten acres of goldfish is no lazy man's job. In fact, Mr. Cotte puts in as many days' work in a year as does the average farmer. His working season, however, differs from that of the farmer.

His heavy work begins in the fall, just about the time the heavy farm work is over for the season, and it lasts all winter. Wading in water hip deep during the winter months and sorting fish with the bare hands are some of the inconveniences suffered by the goldfish producer.

For many years Mr. Cotte has operated a private hatchery in Reno county, near the little town of Langdon. He took up a homestead near the foot of the sand hills, some of the land being covered with bogs and springs.

He built one pond and stocked it with fish, expecting to sell them on the market. Soon there came a demand for small fish for ponds and creeks, and he quit raising for the market and went into the regular hatchery business.

He gradually enlarged his hatchery until now it covers thirteen acres and is composed of fifteen ponds. The industry grew to such proportions that Mr. Cotte has turned his grain farm over to his son and now devotes his time exclusively to the production of fish.

For some years he raised game fish and shipped them all over the west. Notwithstanding that nearly every state has a fish hatchery which supplies small fish for its streams, ponds and lakes free of cost, Mr. Cotte has had no trouble disposing of his hatch. He still supplies hundreds of ponds in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Nebraska with game fish. He sells direct to the Nebraska fish department and also to the federal government.

SHE WAS NO "PIKER."

So She Rolled a Peanut in Omaha, Neb., Because She Lost Bet.

Omaha, Neb.—Before a large crowd Miss Minnie Kneeter, a pretty society girl, rolled a peanut around the block, starting at Omaha's busiest corner. The peanut was rolled with a tooth pick.

"I lost a bet," said Miss Kneeter. "Let 'em call me crazy, but I'm no piker."

Honey In Courthouse.

Butler, Mo.—For weeks a swarm of bees has been noticed around the cupola of the Bates county courthouse. The county court ordered the veteran janitor, Fleetwood Thomas, to investigate. He found the bees had deposited about 500 pounds of honey. He took it to the grocery stores and realized about $75 from the sale.

TELLS OF ELECTRIC COOKING

Publication of University of Missouri Emphasizes Convenience of Preparing Food in Electric Oven.

That the housewife can prepare her evening meal for the following day, place it in an electric oven, go for an overnight and all day's visit find it just ready to serve when she returns home at 6 o'clock the next evening is the possibility intimated by the Engineering Experiment Station of the University of Missouri at Columbia in a recent bulletin, "The Economics of Electric Cooking."

The electric cooker will work without attention and a special apparatus will provide for switching off the current automatically at the time it is desired. The art of cooking will become a science with the full use of the electric oven, the bulletin says. Cook books will not say, "cook until done," or "leave in a moderate oven," or "according to judgment," but will state how long and at what temperature it is to be cooked, while the electric cooker may be depended upon to cook it in that way without attention.

The present lack of definite rules for cooking is due to lack of control over temperatures, the M. U. investigator says. The electric oven will give full control over the heat. With little trouble, high temperatures may be changed after bread is baked to a low temperature for cooking meats and vegetables. Pre-heating losses also would be reduced to a minimum.

The cost of cooking by electricity in many places in Missouri is a little greater than the cost of cooking by gas. Wood or coal heating is usually more wasteful than either gas or electricity. The greater convenience of the electric oven, says the booklet, ought to more than compensate for the slight addition to expense.

The bulletin points out that the defect of all ovens now on the market is improper insulation. Most of them are built to please the eye rather than to properly control the heat. The best electric oven is the small one, properly insulated and giving full control over temperature regulations.

Housewives or electric lighting companies interested in electric ovens may have the bulletin sent them by addressing the Engineering Experiment Station, University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri.

How The World Empties and Fills

TWENTY-ONE years ago Coxey's Army marched to Washington. All the papers were full of it. Mention Coxey to anybody over thirty-five years old and see the understanding in his face. Know Coxey and his blooming army? Well, I should say so! Now try Coxey on men and women in the twenties. Just try it. It will open your eyes. Coxey? Who the blazes is Coxey? Looks of confusion and ignorance.

Coxey, you see, quit advertising. That is, the Coxey publicity ceased. And the world has filled up with people who never heard of him. Millions and millions of them.

That is the way with some advertisers. They speak up a few times and then go back to their factories. There, by George, we've told 'em! And then old Father Time begins to work. And the undertaker. And the parson armed with a marriage license. And the baby carriage carriage. And rheumatism. And, first you know, the world is peopled with new bosses, new buyers and new housekeepers who never heard of you. Incredible! What!—never heard of ME? No, never heard of you! Sorry to disappoint you.

Man is provided with a great big ego. If he didn't have it he couldn't stand to live. Without an ego he would probably take one look at the moon and go jump in the lake. Now the best thing that an ego does is to give you a fine feeling of permanence. Of course you aren't permanent, and your better sense tells you so. But Mr. Ego keeps trying to make you THINK you are. What he aims to do is to make you feel comfortable. Nice thing to have around—an ego. You need him in your business. But don't believe everything he tells you. He is the most agreeable and ever-present liar on your premises.—John M. Siddall, From American Magazine.

Announcement.

We are authorized to announce Robert I. Young of Buchanan county, as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Fourth district subject to the primary election to be held August 8, 1916.

Here is an item from the St. Joe Gazette of ten years ago: "Hogs are selling at $4.60 to $4.80, and fat cattle at $3.95 to $5.90." Our protectionist friends then said a revision of the tariff would ruin the farmer.

Columbia is said to be second only to St. Louis and Kansas City in the sale of cigarettes. And yet some people think the boys who go away to school don't learn anything.

The cities of the country are now beginning to point with pride to their big bank clearings, and these undeniable evidences of business prosperity. Even the would-be calamity howlers haven't time to howl.

In putting all their armies under one general head and direction, the allies are at last showing real common horse sense. The Germanic allies have had a distinct advantage in their superior organization. They have been able to direct their forces in a given direction when desired, while their enemies were each fighting a lion hand.

The scope of the federal trade commission, which the president claims has power to assume the function of a tariff commission, so far, at least, as investigations of the subject go, is very broad. It is probably the most far reaching body that has ever been created for the purpose of regulating trade and commerce. It apparently has jurisdiction over everything that the interstate commerce commission fails to reach. The commission will hold a hearing soon to determine if they have the power to investigate and stop dishonest advertising. This proposition has been put up to them by the associated advertising clubs which are trying to eliminate all questionable advertising as unfair competition. The commission has an unlimited field in which to work, and if rightly handled must result in great good to the legitimate business of the country.

Clyde Culture Club.

The center at Clyde school which will be known as the Clyde Culture club, has renewed its activities for the winter. The first meeting, at which the seasons organization was perfected, was held last Friday night. The officers elected are: President, W. H. Chambers; vice president, Loren Gillespie; recording secretary, Earl Pope; corresponding secretary, Miss Mildred Massie; organist, Mrs. R. G. Ringgold; chorister, Mrs. Ernest Ingels. The program committee is composed of Miss Amy Van Buren, U. A. Anderson and R. G. Ringgold. U. A. Anderson also is sergeant-at-arms.

The next meeting will be November 26. The council will continue to meet throughout the season, once each two weeks.

To Have Revival Meetings.

The Baptist church of Hopkins will commence a series of revival meetings next Sunday, and State Evangelist A. R. Sifton and his singer, Prof. Morris, will conduct the meetings. The pastor of the church is Rev. D. W. Griffith.

Bazaar at Hopkins.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church of Hopkins will hold a bazaar and dinner in the church parlors on Thanksgiving day.

W. H. Warden and family left this morning for Abingdon, Ill., where they will visit the farmer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Warden.

ASKS DRAG BULLETIN CEASE

D. Ward King Says Great Harm Comes From Page Road Article—Wants It Suppressed.

A second open letter to Secretary of Agriculture David L. Houston is released today by D. Ward King. He thanks the secretary for offering to publish the Page and King bulletins, on the use of the road drag together, but declares:

"It would not be satisfactory. The publication of the two bulletins within one cover, as you suggest, would perpetuate the blunders of the Page bulletin; instead of thus perpetuating these blunders they should be wiped out by suppressing that document."

He points out the value of his warning concerning the danger of certain advice by mentioning a letter from a Westerner which tells of the killing of a boy "in exactly such a tip-over accident" as his warning predicted, and asks: "Shall we try to compromise with death?"

His objections, he says, are not so much due to the ignorance of their subject betrayed by those who wrote the Page bulletin, as to their assumption of expert knowledge and the prestige given to it by the use of the department seal. He says: "Truly, sir, but for the dignity and authority conferred on the Page booklet by the stamp of the United States department of agriculture not a single argument would be wasted on it; other booklets almost as foolish have been ignored. And this argument is an effort to persuade you, who have supreme authority under congress, to destroy the document before it does any further damage."

He claims that the assertion that the King Drag is merely a maintenance tool is contradicted by another publication issued by the department, No. 220, which he quoted as saying: "Some remarkable results have been accomplished with the drag without the aid of the road machine."

Authorities from the state of Washington, from Iowa and from Maine are quoted in support of Mr. King's assertion that the drag is a constructive implement.

He also mentions his own road in proof of his contention. The road he "has dragged for twenty years—a neglected clay road to begin with—trough-shaped—treated with the drag and farm tools only * * * throughout the two decades, yet the one criticism is that the oval is and has been throughout the twenty-year period too pronounced, the center too high."

He makes clear that he has no antimosity by offering "my appreciation of the uniform courtesy and appreciation shown me, personally, by yourself and Mr. Vrooman; and also I may say that, with but two exceptions, the same expression is due each of the officials in your department with whom I have had dealings."—The News-Press

EAT WITHOUT FEAR OF INDIGESTION OR SOUR, ACID STOMACH

Instant Relief! Pape's Diapepsin™ Ends Your Stomach Trouble Forever.

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

AN EVENING OFF

By LOUISE OLIVER.

Priscilla laid Gerald junior in his crib, tilted the bottle to just the proper angle and snatched a soft little handkerchief out of her belt just in time to prevent a very bitter tear from dropping down on to the wee pink cheek on the pillow.

Gerald senior had just gone out, slamming the door as most males do, considering the same a fitting finale for a marital row. This was their first quarrel, and Priscilla felt that the earth was shaking under her feet.

She slipped into a kimono and sat down by the window. It was not quite dark, but the street below was very quiet; so was the little flat—just a soft, contented sound from the crib in the corner. The silence added to her loneliness. Of course little Gerald was the dearest, sweetest, most precious darling in the wide world, but after she had cooed and kissed and patted and rocked all day, to say nothing of the ceremonious bath and airing in the perambulator, she felt it her privilege to associate with people of her own age, after baby had settled himself to sleep all night; preferably Gerald senior, but—and this was what the trouble was all about—he had a drug store, and no one could be trusted with the precious prescription factory from 8 a. m. until 11 p. m. daily but himself. Priscilla was left to amuse herself as best she could.

Suddenly someone threw up a window in the building next door and strains of music came floating over to her. She raised her own window in order to hear better. It was a waltz, and, looking up, she caught a glimpse now and then of passing dancers.

Gerald junior was sleeping now. She took away the bottle, covered him snugly—and then she went to her desk. Long ago she had tucked away an engraved card somewhere in a pigeonhole. She found it under the baby's weight card.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald St. Clair STUDIO DANCING Classes Tuesday and Friday From 8 until 11 Private Lessons on Arranged. Nestor Building, Philadelphia.

How she had coaxed Gerald to go! He used to love dancing! How marriage changed men! It was different with women. They didn't lose all romance in two short years.

Then she thought of something. Why not go to dancing school alone? Many women did!

She rolled baby's bed as quietly as she could to the window and pulled the shade to the top. If she left a bright light burning in the room she could look over at him after every dance to make sure he was all right.

In a few minutes she was dressed in a year-old white gown and black slippers and stockings, but she felt like Cinderella in satin and crystal going to her first ball.

The preliminaries were a little trying to timid Priscilla, but the delight of dancing more than made up for the effort. As she had planned, after every dance she went to the window for a peep at the baby, who lay, as she had left him, sound asleep in his bed close to the window.

Priscilla laughed softly to herself. How splendidly her plan had worked! Two hours of pleasure like this once a week would keep her going hundreds of lonely evenings at home alone.

"What Gerald does not know does not hurt him!" she reflected smiling. "I'm not doing anyone in the world a bit of harm."

The class work on a new one-step took a little longer than usual, and by the time it was over Priscilla was frantic with anxiety. She made straight for the window and looked down at Baby Gerald's window.

She put her hand suddenly to her mouth to stifle a scream. She was just in time to see two masculine arms lift baby from his bed and disappear.

She had locked the door and no one else but Gerald had a key. But Gerald had no pepper-and-salt clothes, and the two arms that held her precious baby were encased in rough tweed!

Priscilla ran! Like a flash she was down the stairs, out on the street, then up the stairs of her own building. The door of her apartment was standing open and—Gerald junior was gone!

She tried to reach the telephone, but the floor was waving and everything was dancing before her eyes. She sat down an instant until things should get steadier—then quietly fainted away.

The next morning Gerald senior sat holding one of Priscilla's hands. Baby Gerald lay cooing in his crib and everything seemed delightfully peaceful and happy to the little woman in bed.

"If you don't mind, Gerald, dear, will you please tell me all over again how you rushed home for baby when you got the message your grandmother was passing through town and wanted to see her only great-grandson?"

So he told her again. "Whose coat had you on, dear?" "Sam's, my clerk's. I had only ten minutes to get to the train and in my rush I got the wrong one."

"And you're sure you don't mind my going to dancing school?" "Yes, I do mind! It was a shame you had to go alone. After this we'll get Sally to stay Friday nights to look after the baby and we'll go fox-trotting together."

Kansas City Stock Market.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Nov. 15.—Beef cattle sold 10 to 15c higher after Wednesday last week, but stockers and feeders quit at the low point. There was a good clearance of stockers and feeders, in spite of the large holdovers from day to day during the week. Total receipts today are 26,000 cattle, beef grades steady and active, best grades of stockers and feeders 10 to 25 cents above last week, medium and low grades steady to weak.

Probably as large a percentage as any time heretofore is stockers and feeders today, which leaves a shortage of beef cattle, and the late market found buyers in a willing frame of mind. Top native beef steers sold at $9.85 and short fed steers sold at $7.50 to $8.50. Cows and bulls held up better than steers last week, good heavy cows selling at $6 to $6.75, heavy bulls $5 to $5.65, veal calves up to $10.00, and these kinds are fully steady today.

Country demand is stronger today, and choice Panhandle and Colorado yearlings and twos are selling at $7.10 to $7.75, fancy white-face stock calves up to $8.50. Western range stock cattle will be scarce after this week, as the mountain country has already had heavy snow. There is a large supply of medium class stock cattle, selling at $6 to $6.75, and some common grades, off color, around $5.75. Stock cows and heifers are in good demand, and many shipments went to Oklahoma and the range country last week.

Hogs sold higher after Tuesday last week, but a big run at Chicago today caused a decline of 10 to 15 cents. Receipts here are 9,000 head, top $6.70, bulk of sales $6.40 to $6.65. Both packers and order buyers paid the top price today, which means that hogs of any weight above 180 pounds are eligible to the top, if they have the quality and finish. Packers have exhibited larger capacity for supplies recently, and increasing receipts were taken care of at advancing prices last week.

However, a six-dollar market is still the objective of the buying side. Sheep and lambs sold unevenly last week, but averaged steady. Top lambs $8.85 on Friday. Today receipts are 11,000 head, market 10c lower, due to weaker prices at Chicago and Omaha. Top lambs brought $8.60 today, both westerns and natives bringing that price. Fat ewes are worth $5.25 to $5.75, yearlings $6.50 to $7.25, wethers $5.75 to $6.25. Feeding stock is in liberal supply, but will be scarce after this week.

Prices are not much changed, except that feeding and aged breeding ewes are lower. Feeding lambs sell at $7.75 to $8.25, feeding yearlings $6.50 to $7.00, feeding ewes, $4.25 to $5.00, breeding ewes $5.50 to $7.00.

No Sponges for the Cake.

The girl that Brown married was beautiful, musical and all that sort of thing, but she was not strong on frizzling beef and mashing potatoes. However, she questioned the neighbor ladies and did her best.

"Billy, dear," remarked the young bride as hubby returned at the usual hour, "I have made lovely pies for supper. I was going to have sponge cake, too, but my plans were upset."

"That's too bad," responded Billy, looking like a real disappointment.

"What's the trouble?" "It was all the druggist's fault," was the surprising rejoinder of wife. "He forgot to send around the sponges."

Mrs. F. Woodard and Mrs. S. J. McKee, who were called here by the death of the late W. F. Woodard, returned last night to their homes in St. Joseph.

And so they were married and lived happily ever afterward." There the old tales stop, with never a word concerning the accomplishment of that satisfactory result. The boy prince and the girl princess married and were therefore happy. Fiction, romance, artists, photographers, poets, and musicians have pictured the young girl as a bit of delicate Sevres ware; the youth of twenty as the daring hero, strong and conquering. R. P. HOSMER, an idyllic dreamer; he is capable of planning and accomplishing great deeds.

Such is romance, but what are the facts when a boy and girl follow the promptings of their fancy and marry? Only a consensus of opinion from physicians, eugenics and the divorce court could answer this question. In most of the states of the Union there are more marriages of girls between the ages of sixteen and twenty than between the ages of twenty and twenty-six. More boys are married between seventeen and twenty-one than between twenty-two and thirty.

The natural conclusion of medical science—that science which touches both the souls and bodies of human beings—is that a man is not really fitted for marriage until he is at least twenty-five and that if he waits until nearly thirty he is a thousand times more certain of proving a good husband than if he married before he was twenty-five. The girl is not fully grown before she is twenty-three or a little older and until that time she needs all her strength in attaining her maturity.

While sentimentality may urge early marriage, all physical and moral facts refute this dictum. People have no right to marry until they know themselves and are fit to assume the responsibilities of life. Youth is ignorant of itself and of its relation to others.—John Stillwell in the December Mother's Magazine.

WANTED LETTER; GOT 3,000.

Published Appeal of "Lonely Soldier" Brings a Surfeit.

London.—The story of the "lonely soldier" at the front, published in a London newspaper, describing how he shrank away shamefaced and empty handed when the postal lorries rumbled in and eager hands shot up for letters and parcels from the dear ones at home, has had an amusing sequel. Within three days there arrived ninety huge parcels for the lonely one, six bags of smaller parcels and 3,000 letters!

Again a Manchester paper printed a letter from a corporal in the Second South Lancashires saying he was probably unique as a man who had not received a single communication from the home land since the war began. That corporal's next letter to the paper was very brief. "I've received 320 letters and papers, and I'm steadily working through the replies."

The association has for its purpose the teaching of its members, among whom are most of the students in the school, the correct use of simple English, the abolition of long, unnecessary words and especially the abolition from their vocabularies of the word "ain't."

The association was organized by P. Casper Harvey, professor of English. In one of the classes and has spread gradually through the school. Misuse of the words "come," "came" and "nice" also is under the ban.

FINDS OLD TRAP.

Used by Hunters 100 Years Ago in Wisconsin in Search for Furs.

Wausau, Wis.—Edward Young of Wausau has brought an old hand forged trap, believed to be from 75 to 100 years old, to the city. Mr. Young found the trap in the roots of an over-turned dead tree near Kempster a few days ago while hunting and fishing in that locality.

The trap is made of steel and is very rusty. A root of the tree had grown around the trap, which had been released. It is believed that the trap was placed there years ago when the Hudson Bay people worked this locality for furs.

CHEMISTS REPLACE COOKS IN GERMANY

Artificial Eggs and Laboratory Milk Now Offered.

London.—By German government order Sundays and Wednesdays are the only days exempt from the new restrictions on the use of meat. German newspapers publish schedules prepared by the German federal council controlling the consumption of meat. The announcement is made that meat supplies must be conserved. The schedule, as forwarded by Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent, is as follows:

Mondays and Thursdays: Restaurants shall offer no meat, fish, fowl or dishes cooked in lard, bacon or dripping.

Tuesdays and Fridays: Butchers shall sell no raw or cooked meats.

Saturdays: Pork shall not be sold.

Thus far no restriction on the cooking of meat in the home has been placed by the federal council.

Copies of German papers contain some tempting offers of chemical food which the public is asked to purchase. Some of these appeals follow:

"Certain Sale—Artificial omelets, artificial butter, chemical honey and marmalade, artificial coffee and milk in any quantities. Packets made up ready for sale at 10 to 20 pfennigs (2 and 4 cents). Ritterstrasse, 86.

"Chemical food is the modern food. All information and receipts at Wollson's, the chemist engineer, Charlottenburg.

"Egg Powder.—To replace natural eggs. Each packet is equal to two eggs, for a penny. Millions of packets have already been sold. Trademark, 'Prima-Nova,' Neukoln, near Berlin.

"Starch Sirup—Lumense nutritive power. In cases of eight or nine hundredweight at Kalek's, Charlottenstrasse, 76.

"To replace natural eggs in the kitchen write to Levin, chemist, who will send recipes and explanations for 10 marks ($2.50)."

The prize perhaps should be given to Ludwig Holzapfel of Leipzig for the following:

"The cheapest meat for concentration camps, large establishment, etc., is whale's meat, which is very nourishing and rich in albuminous substances. Barrels of a hundredweight can be sent on trial for 60 marks ($15)."

Bull Attacks Pastor Piety.

Wabash, Ind.—The Rev. Samuel Piety, aged sixty-two, pastor of a Disciples of Christ church in the southern part of the county, was seriously injured when he was attacked by a bull. Piety had gone into a barn on a friend's farm, when he was attacked by the animal. He was thrown almost across the barn and then trampled before his cries for help brought a passer-by, who seized a pitchfork and drove the bull away. Piety suffered two broken ribs and a fractured collarbone.

The Pious Boarder.

It was one of those cheaper boarding-houses on the North Side in Chicago and the boarders soon noticed that the newest boarder had a very regular habit.

At each meal, as he came in, he would stand behind his chair for a moment, look down at the table and say, "The Book of Hebrews, thirteenth chapter, eighth verse." Then he would proceed to do justice to the meal.

This continued for several weeks, during which time the newest boarder continued the habit, the other boarders remarking sotto voce, what a deeply religious young man he was.

Then, one day, a boarder happened to note that the young man always said the same thing: "The Book of Hebrews, thirteenth chapter, eighth verse." Out of curiosity, this boarder looked up the reference to see if it had any significance.

It had. This is what he read: "The same yesterday, and today, and forever."—National Monthly.

NOW WHAT WILL MAJOR DO?

The Governor is Greatly Displeased Over the Railroad Rate Increase.
Jefferson City, Nov. 18.—It became known here today that Governor Major is much displeased over the action of the public utilities commission in granting the railroads an increase in rates. The Country voters are talking adversely about it.

John M. Atkinson, chairman of the commission, who was in Kansas City yesterday, declined to discuss the attitude of Governor Major. He said the 300-page decision now on file in Jefferson City spoke for itself.

BADGE FOR MISSOURI

Missouri suffragists are to have a badge all their own. It is to be used not only to adorn the lapels of all men and the frocks of all Missouri women who are advocating votes for Missouri women, but its sale is to swell the coffers of the finance committee of the suffrage organization.

Mrs. H. H. McClure of Kansas City is the designer and has financed the first supply of the badges, but every suffrage organization in the state is to be asked to help out the sale. The badge takes the form of a yellow satin ribbon pendant on which is a figure of a womanhood blowing the bugle to attract the attention of her sleeping sisters and indifferent voters. At her belt appears the sword of righteousness, and in her right arm she carries the flag of suffrage, which shows the blue stars for the states already having given women the ballot and a large, resplendent star for the state to give it next, "Grand Old Missouri."

At the bottom of this ribbon is attached a dial bearing the words "Missouri Next" and "Amendment Thirteen," arranged around a smaller flag of "Votes for Women."

This badge is the artistic and practical contribution of the Kansas City Business Women's League to the cause and campaign. As this league is composed of the busy business women, its campaign takes the form of a businesslike proposition to design, make and furnish these badges at wholesale prices to woman suffrage organizations of the state.

CALLS PRISONERS "BAD BOYS"

Maternal Instinct Needed in Governmental and Municipal Affairs.

Dr. Katherine B. Davis, commissioner of corrections of the city of New York, says that when she quelled the recent mutiny of 1,400 men at Blackwell's Island she did only what must be expected and demanded in the government of the future by injecting the maternal instinct into municipal affairs.

"Criminals," Dr. Davis says, "are not merely 'like bad boys.' They are bad boys, and they must be treated as such."

"It is a matter of gratification, far wider than the purely personal, that I have received hundreds of letters from the mothers of the boys at Blackwell's Island, saying: 'We are so glad that there is a woman looking after them as a mother might.'"

"I would not welcome a new matronage. But I would see women working shoulder to shoulder with men for the city's good."

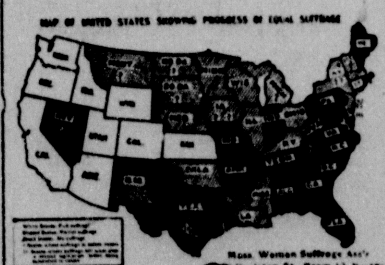

IF I WERE A WOMAN

If I were a woman I would take shame to myself if I persisted in the delusion that politics is a "dirty game," and took no active or intelligent interest in the keeping of my municipal house.

What could I do? Well, IF THERE WAS AN EQUAL SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT IN MY STATE I WOULD JOIN IT, AND IF THERE WAS NONE I WOULD START ONE. I am not a great believer in the "silent influence" of which we hear so much. The women of Massachusetts worked 55 years to get a law that the women of Colorado put on the statute books within 12 months after the securing of equal suffrage. The best of men are more concerned with business than moral or social questions, and the best of men have a way of "pisthushing" the women folk when they advance political arguments that are not backed up by a vote.

The way to get a thing done is to do it yourself. Exert all possible influence on your husband and your sons—by all means devote club work to a study of the vital and pressing political problems of the day—BUT WORK FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE. It may be urged, of course, that many women do not want the ballot. What of that? Thousands of men never vote, and the woman will have the same right as a man to shirk the duties of citizenship.—Ben Lindsey in The House-keeper.

SUFFRAGE MAP.

Wyoming got woman suffrage in 1869. Twenty-four years later her next-door neighbor adopted it. Then followed Utah and Idaho, both next door neighbors to suffrage states. Next came Washington, in 1910. In 1911, for the first time, the suffrage cause jumped and California gave her women the vote. Later Oregon filled up the gap, and on the same day Arizona and Kansas, having been quiet observers of the good results of suffrage in adjoining states, joined the "White States."

Nevada, the only black state in the west and, incidentally, the one with blackest divorce and home-protection laws, hopes to win this year.

Judging by the past, it is not Missouri's turn next to bridge the gulch between Kansas on the west and Illinois on the east and make her

VOTE SEEKERS ARE IN FEDERAL FIGHT

New York Suffragists and Congressional Union Join.

ASK FOR SUFFRAGE PLANKS

Dr. Anna Shaw Requests Chairmen McCombs and Hilles to Give Women Full Hearing—National Woman Suffrage Association Will Also Give Support to the Amendment.

New York.—Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, president of the Women's Political Union, and her organization decided formally recently at an executive meeting to throw in their fortunes with the Congressional Union and work for the Susan B. Anthony federal amendment. The Congressional Union has a couple of women whom it calls "women voters' envoys," coming by automobile from the Pacific coast on their way to Washington to present to the president and congress a petition signed by 500,000 women voters, asking that the S. B. Anthony amendment be passed by the Sixty-fourth congress.

The union, of which Miss Alice Paul is chairman, has been considered the most militant of American organizations on account of its methods of appeal to the president and politicians. Some of the members of the Women's Political Union have gone over to it from time to time, and others have worked with it as individuals, but the organization as a whole has hitherto held itself aloof.

The Susan B. Anthony amendment, which has been known as the Bristow-Mondell bill, will be introduced for the

MRS. HARRIOT STANTON BLATCH.

Congressional union this year by Senator Sutherland and will be known in future as the Sutherland-Mondell bill. It will also this year have the support of the National Woman Suffrage association, which for the last two years has been standing behind a substitute, the Shafer-Palmer federal amendment.

The Women's Political Union was until a few years ago associated with the National association, but it severed its connection, giving some nominal reason. The Women's Suffrage party and the Empire State campaign committee are affiliated with the National. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who was at one time a strong backer of the National, is now working in the Congressional Union.

In open letters sent to William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and to Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican committee, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, asks for hearings for her associations when the committees meet in Washington in the early part of December.

At these meetings she says she wishes to discuss the possibility of securing for the question of woman suffrage a "real and not perfunctory hearing" at the national conventions of the two parties.

Dr. Shaw speaks of the 1,000,000 votes given to woman suffrage in the "conservative east" on Nov. 2 and the 8,000,000 men and women voters in the suffrage states in the west, which make it "specially desirous that there shall be a discussion on one point—the justice, propriety and expediency of having a plank in the Democratic and Republican platforms in favor of woman suffrage."

These letters were sent according to the agreement at the Chicago conference of suffragists last spring that the National association should make extraordinary efforts next year to have planks inserted in the platforms of all parties. State suffrage organizations are already bringing pressure to bear upon the state committees of both the Republican and Democratic parties.

In writing to Mr. Hilles, as chairman of the Republican national committee, Dr. Shaw says that if it is agreeable to the committee the women will present as spokesmen "the daughter of a former distinguished chairman of your committee, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormack."

Pennsylvania Rival to Lady Eglantine Vouched For by Owner.

Carlisle, Pa.—With his pet Minorena hen, Queen Elizabeth, W. S. Geremeyer claims to have beaten the world's egg laying record recently established by Lady Eglantine at Delaware college. Queen Elizabeth, he asserts, laid 343 eggs in 343 consecutive days. The best Lady Eglantine did is put at 314 eggs in 365 days. Geremeyer and his wife certify to the correctness of this count. Queen Elizabeth is said to have begun laying on Nov. 4, 1914, and stopped on Oct. 13, 1915, laying an egg a day during that time. Two other fowls of the same brood are said to have laid 328 eggs in the same time.

MAKES 'EM YOUNG AGAIN.

Professor of Zoology in Chicago University Rejuvenates Animals.

Chicago.—The result of fifteen years study of the evolutions of life are contained in "Senescence and Rejuvenescence," a 500 page volume from the pen of Charles Manning Child, associate professor of zoology in the University of Chicago.

"Certain experimental methods have made it possible not only to follow the physiological changes in some of the lower animals, but to learn something of their nature," Professor Child writes. "These animals grow old, as do men, but they are also capable of growing young. The process of aging can be retarded or inhibited experimentally and old animals brought back to a condition of youth and made to pass through the life cycle again and again."

SEALS ENRICH WOMAN.

Has Been in Business Twenty Years on Maine Coast.

Boothbay Harbor, Me.—Mrs. Janet MacDonald, seventy-seven years old, is about to retire wealthy, after twenty years in the business of seal catching, with three men in her employ.

The seals of Maine waters are not valuable for their skins, but are easily tamed and are in demand for public and private collections and aquariums and zoological collections.

The catching is done at night, with the aid of nets, and Mrs. MacDonald has caught many personally. Often they follow her about the house several days after capture.

GIRL, FOURTEEN, ENTERS UNIVERSITY

Had to Get Special Permit Before Iowa Would Admit Her.

Bonaparte, Ia.—Chaminade Stustman Blackford, who recently celebrated her fourteenth birthday at her home here, is said to be the youngest student of a university. When she applied for admission to Iowa university this fall the university authorities informed her that she must get a "special permit" from the state board of education. The board granted the application, but with the stipulation, although she had passed high school, she must take an entrance examination before she could be enrolled.

It has been said that the board thought and hoped that she would fail. If so they were disappointed, for Chaminade passed with honors a very stiff examination, which included mathematics, Latin, history, science, physics, English composition and rhetoric. So there was nothing for it but to admit her.

If all goes well she will receive her A. B. at eighteen, and, if she pursues her studies, her M. A. at nineteen.

Until the age of six Chaminade did not know a letter. She was not a strong child, and her parents hesitated to send her to school. She began her studies at home with her mother as teacher. She never was forced to study, and at times when she was not feeling well she would go for several weeks without opening a book. Nevertheless, at the age of eleven she took eighth grade examinations and entered the high school. In her second year there she was so far ahead of her class that at her professor's suggestion she left her class behind and finished the three years in two, graduating last spring.

Chaminade is now a strong, healthy girl, full of life and fun, and unafflicted with "nerves." She is an excellent pianist and has given public recitals of classical music. Educators say she is a perfectly normal child, but with a wonderful memory.

"I do not see anything remarkable about what I have done," she says. "I don't think I am particularly bright. I just want to make good."

Found Stony Heart.

Ridgefield, Wash.—Ernest Hawkins, while engaged in hunting for Indian arrowheads and other Indian curios at what is called an old Indian arrow bed along the shore of Lake river, picked up an unusual curio having the appearance of a petrified heart of an Indian. It is said by old timers that Indians had a burying ground near where the petrified heart was found. Each year as the water washes down the bank more relics have been found and the burying ground is exposed.

PINS AND PATTERNS

By IZOLA FORRESTER.

The black-and-gold sign read "Gowns," and Beechmont gasped at the intrusion and desecration. If she had placed the sign on the locked gate of the private little park in the center of the circle of houses Beechmont could not have been more perturbed.

Phil liked Pauline's pluck. They had been chums years ago, he remembered. He had always been glad when the little, wide-eyed, sturdy girl from Boston had come to visit across the street. He had thought her wonderfully clever. He smiled now, looking at the little sign "Gowns."

"I shall place it in the hands of Gorbell," said his father testily. "It's absurd that she can't see for herself how it lowers property values. She's twenty-two or three—old enough to know better."

"Go now," growled Mr. Hubbard. "Get it over with."

So across the street went the emissary, a very courteous, neighborly emissary, with the glint of fun in his blue eyes and a decided longing to renew his old friendship with Polly, as he had called her years before.

He was admitted by a neat, black-clad maid, and waited in the long reception room. A few good rugs lay on the polished floor, a few excellent pieces of mahogany were here and there, and old Mme. Dale's gold and glass cabinets for her treasures.

Evidently the pin-and-pattern establishment was upstairs. He stood looking at a picture on the mantel when Pauline came down the long staircase.

"How do you do, Phil? It's nice of you to call so soon." Her soft contralto voice woke a queer thrill that he had forgotten. He forgot all about the cross old gentleman waiting over the way as he talked with her. She had been abroad two years, mostly in France.

"This is only temporary," she said happily. "I mean my beginning here. I want a really good, exclusive little place somewhere in the Forties in Fifth avenue. But I've come to stay and I'm going to make good. I only design personality gowns, Phil, on special orders. Do you think I'll succeed?"

"I know you will," he assured her heartily. "Mother wants one now."

Pauline half closed her eyes meditatively. "I can just see her in one. Bring her over, please do."

The little maid came to say the car was waiting.

"I've got a very neat little one that I drive myself," she assured him. "It's a French car and I needed it. Don't you want to come with me, Phil?"

Phil accepted the invitation eagerly, all forgetful of his father.

"Did you speak to her about the infernal sign?" asked Mr. Hubbard after dinner that night. Phil smiled convincingly.

"I don't believe it will stay there very long, dad."

"Well, we'll wait, then. I don't want to take the girl's livelihood from her, but she ought to know better."

"Yes, sir," said Phil. "Exactly."

Mrs. Hubbard smiled from the tea tray end of the table and the following morning the little designer of temperamental gowns received a call from her neighbor and an order for a Maeterlinck gown. It was to be a twilight gray, with underlays of chiffon, old rose and dull topaz and deeper grays. Pauline put her whole heart into the modeling of it, and Phil would drift across the street quite naturally to watch her, or trot around in the gray and silver car seeking temperamental weaves and garnitures.

"You know, Phil," she told him, "your mother is adorably sweet and dear, and I am going to make her a perfect dream of wistful beauty, know it? I think she likes me, too. Your father doesn't, though." She laughed merrily. "I met him on the street and offered a friendly greeting, and he just growled at me."

"He'd better like you," Phil swung back sturdily.

"Why?"

"Don't you know why, Polly?"

"You'll make me steer wrong. Let go my hand, Phil."

"I'll run the car myself." He took the wheel from her firmly. "I'm going to run it for life for you, Polly, know it?"

"What will Beechmont say?" she flashed back whimsically. "Phil, I think the world of you, but I'm afraid. I can hang out my little gold sign right under their noses and laugh, but do I dare to marry their very nicest bachelor?"

"You haven't anything to say about it," Phil answered. "He's going to marry you."

FEATURE PLAY FOR EMPIRE.

"The Devil's Daughter" Will Be Shown There Friday Night.

"The Devil's Daughter," pictured for William Fox from Gabriele D'Annunzio's most exotic and famous work, the well known "La Gioconda," is a screen play of tremendous force and unforgettably powerful in its depiction of an evilly beautiful siren, who, like the Lamia of Greek mythology, is half serpent and half woman in her nature. The story is presented in photoplay form at the Empire theater Friday night.

Through the agency of Collins & Alexander, Mrs. J. L. Downer this week sold the last 20 of the 40-acre tract she has had to sell, Theo Jackson getting it at $200 an acre. He will build on it in the spring and make it his home.—Hopkins Journal.

SMALLPOX OVER ALL THE COUNTY*SEVEN CASES ARE QUARANTINED
IN MARYVILLE.*DOCTORS URGE CARE AND VACCINATION*Nodaway Has Had One or More Cases in Mild Form for Many Months, Health Officer Says.

Here are the smallpox facts: There are seven cases in Maryville. George W. Bickett, 822 North Mulberry, is the only adult who is ill, and the only case in town which is at all serious. He is not dangerously ill, according to Dr. F. C. Wallis, city physician.

The other six cases are so light that none of those who have it have been forced to go to bed. They are: A son of Mr. Bickett, a son of Ernest McClain, on East Fifth street; a small son of Sherman Reynolds, 1522 East Cooper, and the daughters of Shel Gatten on East First, William G. Edwards, 1102 East Fourth, and Sam Cozad, on East Second street.

No anxiety is felt by any of the city authorities because of the varioloid form of the disease, and because most of the cases have only a few poxes. Although the ward school entertainment was postponed tomorrow night, partly because of the prevalence of the disease, it is not thought at this time that any general ban on public assemblies will be made.

Not Confined to Maryville.

The disease is not confined to Maryville, but is prevalent over the whole county. Although Dr. F. M. Ryan, county health officer, has but one case under quarantine at this time, there has not been a time during the last year when there have not been one or more cases.

The only danger which he sees is that the mild form usually goes into the confluent stage, which is fatal, if the mild character is not stamped out. One death occurred at Elmo a few months ago, but the patient had pneumonia along with the smallpox.

The great difficulty which the doctors face is the lack of co-operation on the part of the people. And they are the only ones who have it within their power to stamp the disease out. Yet almost everyone objects strongly to quarantine and try to conceal the fact that they have the malady.

This feeling also has caused certain doctors to pronounce cases of smallpox, chickenpox, and most of the spreading of the disease has been due to that. One of the most stubborn epidemics in the county was due to the chickenpox diagnosis. Dr. Ryan has the names of two doctors who have done so in this county and their names have been reported to the state board of health.

Doctors Recommend Care.

If the offense against the public safety is repeated, the whole community will be quarantined, the president of the state board of health announces. He and the health officers of Andrew and Nodaway counties met recently and pronounced the disease smallpox.

When strict quarantine is observed, there is no more danger in going about the county or in and out of Maryville than there is in going to St. Joseph or any city, for they always have a large number of cases under quarantine there.

The city physician and the county health officer each unite in urging the people to be vaccinated, to be very careful, to observe all precautions of sanitation and cleanliness, and particularly not to object to being quarantined. If those three things can be put into effect generally the disease can be speedily stamped out, all of the physicians say.

The last issue of the Shenandoah papers report six cases there.

GOOD ROADS MACHINESNODAWAY TOWNSHIP BUYS STEEL
CULVERT FORMS.*Three Now in Nodaway County Which Make Small Concrete Bridges Easily and Rapidly.

The trustees of Nodaway township have purchased a set of steel concrete forms for bridge work and will use them in the construction of cement culverts. This makes the third set of these forms in operation in this county.

About eighteen months ago Polk township purchased two sets from the Illinois Concrete Machinery company of Buda, Illinois, and began work under the supervision of the county highway engineer. They later found that they only needed one set and sold the other one to Lincoln township.

Nodaway township is now at work near Burlington Junction and L. S. Scott, the secretary of the company, is there for a time demonstrating his machinery work. The company makes a practice of furnishing one of their men on the first job while the local men are getting familiar with the machinery.

They claim that these forms are made to cast culverts and bridges in strict conformity with the standard highway department. They say also that they are very easily and economically operated, and that the large number sold throughout the state meet the approval of the state highway commissioner. The forms are quickly and easily set up and a job can be completed in much less time than by the old methods.

There is no movement just now of more importance than the building of good roads and it is well for those interested to investigate the merits of such machinery.

WILL MARYVILLE BE ON IT?Jefferson Highway, From St. Paul to New Orleans, Will Pass Through
St. Joseph and Des Moines.

Will Maryville be on the new Jefferson highway from New Orleans to Winnipeg, Canada? That is the question the autoists are wanting to know today.

The new highway, as selected at the New Orleans meeting held Monday and Tuesday, will pass through Shreveport, Denison, Muskogee, Joplin, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Des Moines, St. Paul and Minneapolis. It is promised it will be quicker and better and of a more permanent character than any national highway ever established in America.

The route from St. Joseph to Des Moines will either be over the Interstate trail or the Saints. The Saints trail goes through Maryville, while the Interstate passes through Albany and Lamoni, Ia. One of the directors of the highway association from Iowa is W. A. Hopkins of Lamoni, who is interested in the selection of the Interstate trail.

Maryville should make an effort to get on the new highway. The route has been unofficially designated "The Vacation Route of America," and that it will carry not less than fifty thousand pleasure cars alone from the first year of its establishment.

FOR PLATTE PAGEANTST. JOSEPH PLANNING BIG SPEC-TACLE NEXT YEAR.*ALL COUNTIES INVITED*Local Programs in Northwest Missouri
Towns and Three-Day Masque Proposed by Club Women.

The proposal for a pageant and masque to celebrate the eightieth anniversary of the Platte Purchase next September is explained in the following from the News-Press:

The idea of the celebration originated with a St. Joseph women's club—the North St. Joseph Study club—which went about promoting the idea in a most business-like way. The big idea is expressed in the following excerpt from a talk by Charles K. Soper before the Rotary club of St. Joseph, which accompanies the invitations:

"Eighty years ago next September the Indians sold and ceded by treaty what is known as the Platte Purchase. Out of it the counties of Nodaway, Atchison, Holt, Andrew, Buchanan and Platte were subsequently organized. Had the Platte Purchase been in Europe, it would have been an influential kingdom. It is nearly three times as large as Rhode Island and could easily support ten times its present population. On every hand, from Nodaway to Platte counties, there are hundreds of untouched opportunities which spell fortune to newer 'pioneers.' All we need is publicity and a thorough stimulation of mutual interest and activity to make the world aware of our advantages.

"With these things in mind a number of citizens of this city, acting upon the suggestion of a local club, presented the idea of a general celebration of the eightieth anniversary of the Platte Purchase to the Commerce club. The proposal has been endorsed by that club and by others, as well as by many individuals prominent in the civic, industrial, religious, educational, social, fraternal and commercial life of this city. Let us form a permanent organization throughout the Platte Purchase, with local organizations in each county and in this city. Representatives from these local organizations would constitute an executive committee to conduct patriotic and commemorative celebrations in different counties of the Platte Purchase, at intervals to be determined. Why not? "St. Joseph takes the initiative with the proposal to celebrate the eightieth anniversary by means of a three-day pageant and masque next September. It will require, approximately, 3,000 actors, of whom we expect our neighbors in the Platte Purchase to furnish half. This pageant will exemplify incidental Indian life, their songs, dances, ceremonies; the coming of the paleface hunter and explorer, the trappers, pioneers, settlers; early village life, costume entertainment, customs and it will represent allegorically and realistically, the development of civilized community life.

Products of Platte Purchase.

"The great auditorium will be turned into a vast exhibition of our products, and only Platte Purchase enterprises and taxpayers will be allotted space. Special attention will be given our schools and colleges, their methods, aims and accomplishments. Religious organizations will be given an unprecedented opportunity to tell what they have done, or are doing, to make this a God-fearing and law-abiding territory. The mayors of our towns and cities will get together and see if they have something to learn from each other for the common good.

"Each day will be devoted to some special purpose, with headquarters at the auditorium, so that every man, woman and child in the city at the time may see that the Platte Purchase stands for productivity, opportunity and advantage. The first day will be Pioneers' day, when we will do honor to those who survive and to the memory of those who have passed on their way; the second day will be Home-coming's day when a special effort will be made to 'show' them Missouri is the land of fatness; the third day will be Get-Together day, when various interests will get together in a better understanding."

A Convention in December.

The invitation is extended to all organizations within the Platte Purchase which are of a civic, educational, religious, fraternal, commercial or vocational character. The date of the convention will be early in December, if possible, depending upon the promptness with which acceptances are received. A formal invitation is unnecessary, and all organizations should be represented by committee of three or by a delegate empowered to act.

"Missouri" Talks.

Bert Cooper, county school superintendent, has been very busy since the Teachers' association in visiting the rural schools. He has been to seventy-five already, most of them where the teacher is in her first year. He reports that all except a half dozen are doing well.

Miss Ora Simonton of Elmo has been elected teacher at the Dawson school to take the place vacated by the resignation of Miss Owen. Miss Simonton holds a county certificate, Superintendent Cooper says.

It was planned to organize a community center at Myrtle Tree tonight, but the affair has been postponed on account of the inclement weather. Morgan school will also form a lecture course and community center soon.

Mr. Cooper has the promise of J. Kelly Wright to give four lectures at some of the leading schools of the county. The county superintendent has in turn promised one of the great illustrated lectures on "Missouri" by Mr. Wright to the Unity, Morgan and Lasher schools. The dates will be set soon.

Mr. Cooper says that some of the schools which are not doing well are suffering from lack of equipment while others have incompetent or inexperienced teachers. He spoke favorably this morning of the plan proposed at the state meetings in Kansas City of putting the schools of a county under one commission like the county court, saying that some of the schools in this county are good examples of the need for a better system.

Cleveland, Nov. 18.—All of the railroad brotherhoods, including more than 350,000 workmen have united in a demand upon the companies for an eight hour day.

The organizations include all engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen on all railroads of the United States.

All in the union have made the additional demand that the wages of the present 10-hour day be maintained in the 8-hour schedule.

New Haven Trials Wakes Up.

The other big surprise in railroad circles today was the news from New York that the seemingly endless New Haven conspiracy trial has become alive for the first time and made most of the directors who are on trial there sit up and take notice.

The reason for the increased interest was the delving of the government attorneys at length into the details of the acquisition of the Boston and Maine by the New Haven. This tended to bring out the evidence which should show that there was also a conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust law.

Most of the defendants were directors during the period concerning which the attorneys were asking such specific questions and the millionaires who are sitting in the prisoners' dockets showed the first real concern for the proceedings of the trial today.

SURVEY PRAISES MISSOURI

Leading Welfare Magazine Says State Takes First Rank in Fight on Tuberculosis.

The Survey, New York, the national weekly for the common welfare, on the first page under the caption "Gaining on Tuberculosis in Missouri," says:

"With one dissenting vote, the late Missouri Legislature passed a program of anti-tuberculosis legislation that takes Missouri from a place near the rear and puts her in the very front rank of states in the fight against this disease.

"The only previous action by the state for the control of tuberculosis was provision for a state hospital for consumptives at Mt. Vernon, and an enabling act to permit adjoining counties to establish joint tuberculosis hospital districts. The latter was knocked out by the Supreme Court.

"The new legislation consists of five bills, two of which apply to the state as a whole and three to the extensive lead and zinc mines in south and southwest Missouri, where the death-rate from tuberculosis is higher than at almost any other point in the United States. The annual death-rate at Webb City, in the heart of this mining district, is 46 per 10,000, twice as high as the normal tuberculosis death rate of any city in the Union of over 10,000 population.

"One of the two bills of general application provides for state-aided county tuberculosis hospitals. The other permits city councils and county courts to employ visiting nurses for tuberculosis cases, authorizing them to disinfect rooms or houses that have been inhabited by tuberculosis patients.

"The governor vetoed the appropriation for one of the three new villas authorized by the legislature to be constructed at the state hospital at Mt. Vernon. He vetoed also an appropriation of $5,000 to conduct a state wide campaign of education.

"The success of this legislation is due to a long campaign by the Missouri Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis, carried on by its secretary, Dr. Walter McNab Miller."

NEED OF AERIAL PREPAREDNESS

Public Must Interest Itself, Says J. A. Steinmetz.

CHECK SUBMARINE DANGER.

Expert Declares That After Study or Craft an Immense Popular Subscription Should Be Raised—Tells What People of France and Germany Have Done in That Respect.

Philadelphia.—In all steps taken to insure military and naval preparedness on the part of the United States the greatest stress should be laid upon the development of the nation's aerial and submarine equipment, according to Joseph A. Steinmetz, president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania. It is not enough, he asserts, that the president and the secretaries of war and the navy are pledged to a serious program of national preparedness for defense, wherein the aeroplane shall play an important part. The public must do its part. It must study the aeroplane and the submarine in the light of the showing which these two branches of warfare have made in the European war. And this study, Mr. Steinmetz contends, must result in immense popular subscriptions of money which will place the United States upon an equal footing with other nations in this regard.

The war in Europe has shown that an army might as well try to do battle without the aid of aeroplanes as a blind man might try to fight. Mr. Steinmetz points out. Realizing this, the French and the Germans built their aeroplane fleets of today largely by public subscriptions and through public interest.

"In February, 1912," says Mr. Steinmetz, "soon after the first employment of aeroplanes in the French military maneuvers demonstrated the potentiality of the air service, although the French government failed to allow the appropriations necessary to secure an adequate aeronautical organization for the French army, a public subscription was started.

"In every part of France the people—men and women, rich and poor, young and old and of all beliefs and factions—united their efforts with the press and political, social, professional and sporting organizations, and all contributed their share to give France a large aerial fleet. This public subscription brought 6,114,846 francs and gave France 208 aeroplanes, sixty-two landing stations for aeroplanes and seventy-five trained aviators.

"The public interest created by the subscription was tremendous and led to the immediate consideration of the aeronautical needs of France by the government. By April, 1914, the French army possessed 1,200 aeroplanes and twenty-eight dirigibles and most complete and efficient equipment.

"Germany's aeroplane fleet was built almost entirely by the public subscriptions started by the Aerial League of Germany in 1912, which brought 7,234,506 marks. The purpose of the league was to train within the shortest time as large a number as possible of aviation pilots to form a reserve and to encourage the general development of aviation in Germany. Following are some of the results obtained:

"The number of pilots was 230 at the end of 1912. It increased to 690 by the end of 1913. The constructors of aeroplanes were less than twenty in 1912; they increased to fifty by the end of 1913. The developments due to the efforts of the Aerial league led the reichstag to pass a plan providing for an expenditure of $35,000,000 for military aeronautics in the following five years.

"During the first month of 1914 the inducements offered by the Aerial League of Germany led to the breaking by German aviators of all the world records. By the middle of July the nonstop endurance record was carried up to 24 hours and 12 minutes by Reinhold Boehm, and the altitude record to 26,246 feet by Heinrich Gerdich.

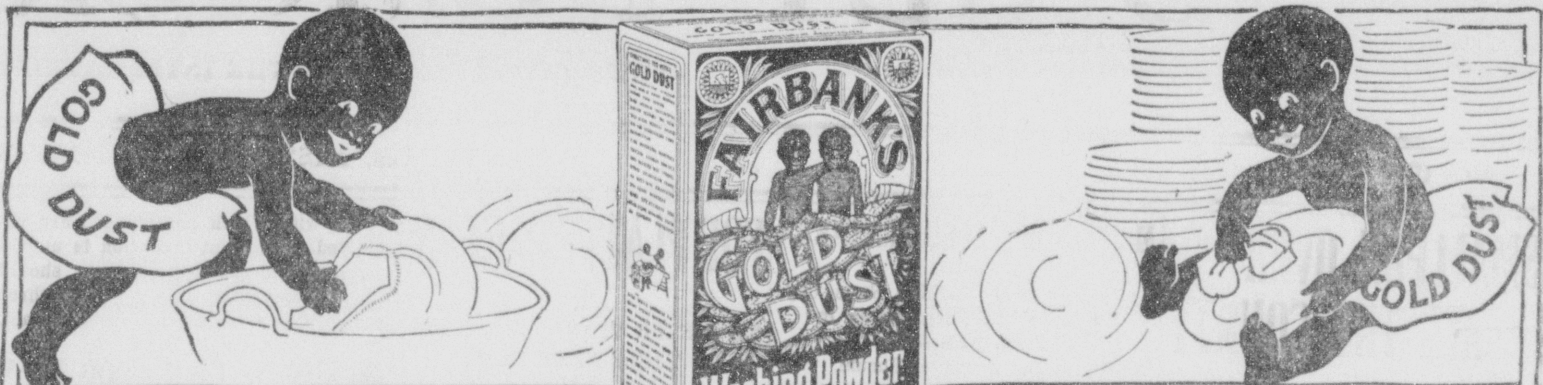

"More than 100 other records similar to these were made. For instance, Basser and Landsmann made continuous flights of 18 hours 11 minutes and 21 hours 49 minutes, respectively, in one of which Landsmann covered 1,336 miles. This is the longest distance ever traveled by man in one day. Among the records for altitude was the record of Otto Linnkekoel of 21,654 feet, which is about the height of Mount McKinley.

"Just as the people in every part of France and Germany united we here in America can do the same.

"The American national aeroplane fund will be used to train aviators, provide aviation corps for the national guard and naval militia of the states and United States possessions and put aeroplanes in use for the mail carrying service to inaccessible places, forming an aeronautical reserve, which, while being used daily for peaceful purposes, shall be ready for military service in case of need."

SCHOOL SANITATION LAWS

PREVENTION OF DISEASE AND HELP IN HEALTH PROVIDED.

Care Against Fire, Panic, Moral Dangers, Noise and All Difficulties Being Taken.

Forty states of the Union have taken some legal action toward safeguarding the sanitation of public-school buildings according to a bulletin on "Schoolhouse Sanitation," just issued by the Bureau of the U. S. Department of the Interior. "Probably nine-tenths of the existing regulation of this sort has come within the past decade," declares the bulletin. "Each state profits by the experience of 47 others. A law passed in one extreme of the country today is copied next month or next year by a state 2,000 or 3,000 miles distant."

Thirty-eight states have some legal provision regarding the school site according to the bulletin. Nearly all of these provisions are state wide in their application, and are mandatory in character. These provisions include the proximity of "nuisances," availability of the site, and size of the site. Nineteen states have laws prohibiting the location of school buildings within a specified distance from places where liquor is sold, from gambling houses, houses of prostitution, and noisy or smoky factories.

Thirty of the states have sought to regulate the water supply of the public school. "The revolt against the common drinking cup," says the bulletin, "has come within the past five years. Kansas was the pioneer, but other states followed rapidly, so that now half of the entire number have either a law or a regulation regarding drinking cups."

Some form of protection against fire and panic is found in 35 states. Blanket regulations, or the power to make such regulations, exist in 12 states. General or special construction with a view to fire prevention is dealt with in 10 states. Thirteen of the states have something to say as to corridors and inner stairways; 24 have regulations as to exits, and 25 as to exterior escapes 10 mention alarm and fire-fighting apparatus; and 11 states provide by law or regulations for fire drills. Less than half the states, according to the bulletin, have any legal word on ventilation. Thirty cubic feet of fresh air per pupil per minute is the conventional amount specified.

In the matter of cleaning and disinfecting, slightly more than one-fourth of the states have regulations which control conditions to any degree outside the districts themselves. Some of the laws and regulations are almost model; others are wholly inadequate. A few state boards of health have done notable work in this particular. Special cleaning and disinfecting follow in seven states immediately upon discovery in any school of any of a certain class of diseases. "Three of the states have a special list of specific diseases that call at once for action. This list includes scarlet fever, smallpox, and diphtheria in all three states, measles in two, and infantile paralysis epidemic spinal-meningitis, and bubonic plague in each."

OBITUARY OF W. E. CRAWFORD.

William E., son of Israel and Elizabeth Crawford was born in Green county, Pennsylvania, October 3, 1842, and departed this life at his home in Graham, Mo., Nov. 17, 1915, at the ripe age of 73 years 1 month and 14 days.

Mr. Crawford has been married three times, his first marriage having occurred in Pickaway county, Ohio, to Rebecca A. Hanks, to which union were born four children, John H., Charles A., Elizabeth, the wife of Abraham Lantz of Andrew county, this state, and Mary, the wife of Edward Bell. Mrs. Rebecca Crawford died in Hughes township, and Mr. Crawford married Prudence Campbell, by whom he had two children, Josie, the wife of B. N. McGrew, and Edna, the wife of Charles Goff of White Cloud township, this county. After the death of Mrs. Prudence Crawford, Mr. Crawford married Ida M. Tyron, and to this union have come five children, Fred E., Lloyd, Emil and Emmett, and Lela, wife of Elder J. E. Davis, Spokane, Wash.

Mr. Crawford was about 2 years old when his parents removed from Pennsylvania to Ohio, where he was reared to manhood and received his education, which was such as could be secured in the common schools. He was reared to the life of a farmer, and this, combined with stock raising, has been his life occupation. Practical and progressive in his methods, and energetic and industrious in his habits, his labors were rewarded with a due meed of success, so that in 1906 he was able to relinquish the strenuous work of the farm and retire to a comfortable home in Graham, where he lived until his death.

At Gravel Wall, Andrew county, in about 1874, under the preaching of Elder W. R. Trapp, he united with the Christian church and was a follower of his Master till called to his reward.

PLAN TO RESTORE LOUVAIN LIBRARY

International Committee to Attempt Reconstruction.

PRICELESS WORKS LOST.

M. Delannoy, Librarian at University of Louvain, During a Visit to London in Connection With Proposed Rebuilding of Library Gives Details of Damage It Is Hoped to Repair.

London.—The reconstruction of the famous library of Louvain, destroyed in part by the Germans, will be undertaken by an international committee of distinguished savants, artists and men of letters of allied and neutral countries. Viscount Bryce is at the head of the British committee.

M. Delannoy, the librarian to the University of Louvain, during a visit to London in connection with the projected rebuilding of the library gave to the London Standard the following details of the loss it is hoped to repair:

"The university was founded in 1425 and was a veritable child of the renaissance. No less a celebrity than the great Erasmus himself made two consecutive sojourns there. In the days of Justus Lipsius (1547-79) it boasted 7,000 students and had a world wide reputation. At the dawn of the following century it had Cornelius Jansen as professor and rector.

VISCOUNT BRYCE.

"Before the war the university enjoyed great prosperity and new institutions, covering all branches of human knowledge, were springing into being. There were five faculties—theology, law, philosophy and letters, science and medicine. The number of students approached 3,000. They came from all parts of the world and largely from America, but the majority were Belgians. Before his elevation to the archbishopric of Malines Cardinal Mercier was professor of philosophy there.

"As to the library itself, it contained 950 manuscripts, between 800 and 1,000 incunabula and more than 250,000 volumes. Among its more notable contents were a little manuscript from the hand of Thomas a Kempis, the celebrated work of Andreas Vesalius (1514-64), the father of human anatomy, given to the university by Charles V., and many beautiful miniatures and editions rare and unique.

"It was particularly rich in theological works. In a unique collection of letters, documents and pamphlets it preserved all that was vital of the great religious controversies of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries—controversies with which the university was intimately associated.

"The library also contained many beautiful specimens from the celebrated presses established at Louvain immediately after the invention of printing. The records of the university itself were a priceless possession. Among them was the papal bull of 1425 authenticating its foundation. The library, which was installed in the ancient Cloth Market, dating from the early fourteenth century, to which building had been added a superb edifice in the style of the renaissance, conserved a precious gallery of portraits of the professors and doctors associated with the university from the earliest times.

M. Delannoy was a personal witness of the destruction that overcame the famous city. He inspected the ruins of the library. Nothing had been spared. All the volumes had disappeared. In the streets of the town and far away into the surrounding country the wind bore about at its will the half consumed pages of the precious volumes and the scraps of irreparable parchment. The time worn boiserie en chene of the venerable Halle aux Draps were nothing but a flame.

"The world is fully conscious of the great task that is incumbent on it—that of rendering to one of the great centers of learning and true culture the means to continue its civilizing work. The more worthily it accomplishes that task the more will it show to future generations the respect that is due to science."

THE KAISER IS THE ACE.

And His Generals Are the Knaves in German Decks of Cards.

Berlin.—Germans now play skat and other favorite card games with pictures of Von Hindenburg and other popular leaders in the war instead of the conventional kings, queens and knaves, says an article in the Berliner Tageblatt. The writer of the article, after calling attention to the widespread popularity of such decks of cards, suggests that German be substituted for French in the expressions used in card games, eliminating words like "carreau," "coeur," "pique" and "treffe."

The new war cards have a picture of the kaiser instead of the usual aces, while the four kings are the kings of Bavaria, Saxony and Wurtemberg, and the Grand Duke of Baden. The knaves are represented by German leaders, and even cards like the ten have pictures of notables in the war. Among the men whose pictures now figure in card games are Count Zep-pellin, Admiral von Tirpitz, Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, Captain Wed-ding, Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, General von Falkenhayn and General von Kluck.

HALF SOVEREIGNS MAY GO.

Heavy Wastage on Coin Pointed Out by Economists.

London.—It was in the year 1810 that the authorities at the mint resolved to discontinue the use of the guinea and the half guinea, which were replaced by the sovereign and the half sovereign.

Now it is the turn of the half sovereign to be scrapped. Economists point out that the wastage on the smaller gold coin in circulation is much greater than on the sovereign, owing to the larger surface exposed in proportion to the value. Everything possible has been done to reduce the loss from wear and tear and to increase the durability of the coins, but the half sovereign still wears badly and is said to chip easily.

And now that "Bradbury's" (one pound notes, so called from the signature of the secretary of the treasury which they bear, and pinkies (10-shilling notes) are part of British everyday life the abolition of the half sovereign has many advocates.

RAISING GOLDFISH NO JOB FOR A LAZY MAN

Topeka Citizen Makes Fortune at It by Hard Work.

Topeka, Kan.—Ten acres of goldfish bring Eugene Cotte of Langdon, Kan., more ready cash annually than is cleaned up on the average 100 acre farm. But raising and marketing ten acres of goldfish is no lazy man's job. In fact, Mr. Cotte puts in as many days' work in a year as does the average farmer. His working season, however, differs from that of the farmer.

His heavy work begins in the fall, just about the time the heavy farm work is over for the season, and it lasts all winter. Wading in water hip deep during the winter months and sorting fish with the bare hands are some of the inconveniences suffered by the goldfish producer.

For many years Mr. Cotte has operated a private hatchery in Reno county, near the little town of Langdon. He took up a homestead near the foot of the sand hills, some of the land being covered with bogs and springs.

He built one pond and stocked it with fish, expecting to sell them on the market. Soon there came a demand for small fish for ponds and creeks, and he quit raising for the market and went into the regular hatchery business.

He gradually enlarged his hatchery until now it covers thirteen acres and is composed of fifteen ponds. The industry grew to such proportions that Mr. Cotte has turned his grain farm over to his son and now devotes his time exclusively to the production of fish.

For some years he raised game fish and shipped them all over the west. Notwithstanding that nearly every state has a fish hatchery which supplies small fish for its streams, ponds and lakes free of cost, Mr. Cotte has had no trouble disposing of his hatch. He still supplies hundreds of ponds in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Nebraska with game fish. He sells direct to the Nebraska fish department and also to the federal government.

SHE WAS NO "PIKER."

So She Rolled a Peanut in Omaha, Neb., Because She Lost Bet.

Omaha, Neb.—Before a large crowd Miss Minnie Kneeter, a pretty society girl, rolled a peanut around the block, starting at Omaha's busiest corner. The peanut was rolled with a tooth pick.

"I lost a bet," said Miss Kneeter. "Let 'em call me crazy, but I'm no piker."

Honey In Courthouse.

Butler, Mo.—For weeks a swarm of bees has been noticed around the cupola of the Bates county courthouse. The county court ordered the veteran janitor, Fleetwood Thomas, to investigate. He found the bees had deposited about 500 pounds of honey. He took it to the grocery stores and realized about $75 from the sale.

TELLS OF ELECTRIC COOKING

Publication of University of Missouri Emphasizes Convenience of Preparing Food in Electric Oven.

That the housewife can prepare her evening meal for the following day, place it in an electric oven, go for an overnight and all day's visit find it just ready to serve when she returns home at 6 o'clock the next evening is the possibility intimated by the Engineering Experiment Station of the University of Missouri at Columbia in a recent bulletin, "The Economics of Electric Cooking."

The electric cooker will work without attention and a special apparatus will provide for switching off the current automatically at the time it is desired. The art of cooking will become a science with the full use of the electric oven, the bulletin says. Cook books will not say, "cook until done," or "leave in a moderate oven," or "according to judgment," but will state how long and at what temperature it is to be cooked, while the electric cooker may be depended upon to cook it in that way without attention.

The present lack of definite rules for cooking is due to lack of control over temperatures, the M. U. investigator says. The electric oven will give full control over the heat. With little trouble, high temperatures may be changed after bread is baked to a low temperature for cooking meats and vegetables. Pre-heating losses also would be reduced to a minimum.

The cost of cooking by electricity in many places in Missouri is a little greater than the cost of cooking by gas. Wood or coal heating is usually more wasteful than either gas or electricity. The greater convenience of the electric oven, says the booklet, ought to more than compensate for the slight addition to expense.

The bulletin points out that the defect of all ovens now on the market is improper insulation. Most of them are built to please the eye rather than to properly control the heat. The best electric oven is the small one, properly insulated and giving full control over temperature regulations.

Housewives or electric lighting companies interested in electric ovens may have the bulletin sent them by addressing the Engineering Experiment Station, University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri.

How The World Empties and Fills

TWENTY-ONE years ago Coxey's Army marched to Washington. All the papers were full of it. Mention Coxey to anybody over thirty-five years old and see the understanding in his face. Know Coxey and his blooming army? Well, I should say so! Now try Coxey on men and women in the twenties. Just try it. It will open your eyes. Coxey? Who the blazes is Coxey? Looks of confusion and ignorance.

Coxey, you see, quit advertising. That is, the Coxey publicity ceased. And the world has filled up with people who never heard of him. Millions and millions of them.

That is the way with some advertisers. They speak up a few times and then go back to their factories. There, by George, we've told 'em! And then old Father Time begins to work. And the undertaker. And the parson armed with a marriage license. And the baby carriage carriage. And rheumatism. And, first you know, the world is peopled with new bosses, new buyers and new housekeepers who never heard of you. Incredible! What!—never heard of me? No, never heard of you! Sorry to disappoint you.

Man is provided with a great big ego. If he didn't have it he couldn't stand to live. Without an ego he would probably take one look at the moon and go jump in the lake. Now the best thing that an ego does is to give you a fine feeling of permanence. Of course you aren't permanent, and your better sense tells you so. But Mr. Ego keeps trying to make you think you are. What he aims to do is to make you feel comfortable. Nice thing to have around—an ego. You need him in your business. But don't believe everything he tells you. He is the most agreeable and ever-present liar on your premises.—John M. Siddall, From American Magazine.

Nodaway County

Announcement.
We are authorized to announce Robert I. Young of Buchanan county, as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Fourth district subject to the primary election to be held August 8, 1916.

Here is an item from the St. Joe Gazette of ten years ago: "Hogs are selling at $4.60 to $4.80, and fat cattle at $3.95 to $5.90." Our protectionist friends then said a revision of the tariff would ruin the farmer.

Columbia is said to be second only to St. Louis and Kansas City in the sale of cigarettes. And yet some people think the boys who go away to school don't learn anything.

The cities of the country are now beginning to point with pride to their big bank clearings, and these undeniable evidences of business prosperity.
Even the would-be calamity howlers haven't time to howl.

In putting all their armies under one general head and direction, the allies are at last showing real common horse sense. The Germanic allies have had a distinct advantage in their superior organization. They have been able to direct their forces in a given direction when desired, while their enemies were each fighting a lion hand.

The scope of the federal trade commission, which the president claims has power to assume the function of a tariff commission, so far, at least, as investigations of the subject go, is very broad. It is probably the most far reaching body that has ever been created for the purpose of regulating trade and commerce. It apparently has jurisdiction over everything that the interstate commerce commission fails to reach. The commission will hold a hearing soon to determine if they have the power to investigate and stop dishonest advertising. This proposition has been put up to them by the associated advertising clubs which are trying to eliminate all questionable advertising as unfair competition.
The commission has an unlimited field in which to work, and if rightly handled must result in great good to the legitimate business of the country.

Clyde Culture Club.
The center at Clyde school which will be known as the Clyde Culture club, has renewed its activities for the winter. The first meeting, at which the seasons organization was perfected, was held last Friday night.
The officers elected are: President,
W. H. Chambers; vice president, Loren
Gillespie; recording secretary, Earl Pope; corresponding secretary, Miss Mildred Massie; organist, Mrs. R. G.
Ringgold; chorister, Mrs. Ernest In-gels. The program committee is composed of Miss Amy Van Buren, U. A.
Anderson and R. G. Ringgold. U. A.
Anderson also is sergeant-at-arms.
The next meeting will be November 26. The council will continue to meet throughout the season, once each two weeks.

To Have Revival Meetings.
The Baptist church of Hopkins will commence a series of revival meetings next Sunday, and State Evangelist A.
R. Sitton and his singer, Prof. Morris, will conduct the meetings. The pastor of the church is Rev. D. W. Griffith.

Bazaar at Hopkins.
The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church of Hopkins will hold a bazaar and dinner in the church parlors on Thanksgiving day.

W. H. Warden and family left this morning for Abington, Ill., where they will visit the former's parents,
Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Warden.

ASKS DRAG BULLETIN CEASE

D. Ward King Says Great Harm Comes From Page Road Article—Wants
It Suppressed.

A second open letter to Secretary of Agriculture David L. Houston is released today by D. Ward King. He thinks the secretary for offering to publish the Page and King bulletins, on the use of the road drag together,
but declares:

"It would not be satisfactory. The publication of the two bulletins within one cover, as you suggest, would perpetuate the blunders of the Page bulletin; instead of thus perpetuating these blunders they should be wiped out by suppressing that document."

He points out the value of his warning concerning the danger of certain advice by mentioning a letter from a Westerner which tells of the killing of a boy "in exactly such a tip-over accident" as his warning predicted, and asks: "Shall we try to compromise with death?"

His objections, he says, are not so much due to the ignorance of their subject betrayed by those who wrote the Page bulletin, as to their assumption of expert knowledge and the prestige given to it by the use of the department seal. He says: "Truly, sir, but for the dignity and authority conferred on the Page booklet by the stamp of the United States department of agriculture not a single argument would be wasted on it; other booklets almost as foolish have been ignored. And this argument is an effort to persuade you, who have supreme authority under congress, to destroy the document before it does any further damage."

He claims that the assertion that the King Drag is merely a maintenance tool is contradicted by another publication issued by the department, No.
220, which he quoted as saying: "Some remarkable results have been accomplished with the drag without the aid of the road machine."

Authorities from the state of Washington, from Iowa and from Maine are quoted in support of Mr. King's assertion that the drag is a constructive implement.

He also mentions his own road in proof of his contention. The road he "has dragged for twenty years—a neglected clay road to begin with—troughshaped—treated with the drag and farm tools only * * * throughout the two decades, yet the one criticism is that the oval is and has been throughout the twenty-year period too pronounced, the center too high."

He makes clear that he has no animosity by offering "my appreciation of the uniform courtesy and appreciation shown me, personally, by yourself and Mr. Vrooman; and also I may say that, with but two exceptions, the same expression is due each of the officials in your department with whom I have had dealings."—The News-Press

EAT WITHOUT FEAR OF INDIGESTION OR SOUR, ACID STOMACH

Instant Relief! Pape's Diapepsin!
Ends Your Stomach Trouble Forever.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

AN EVENING OFF

By LOUISE OLIVER.

Priscilla laid Gerald junior in his crib, tilted the bottle to just the proper angle and snatched a soft little handkerchief out of her belt just in time to prevent a very bitter tear from dropping down on to the wee pink cheek on the pillow.

Gerald senior had just gone out, slamming the door as most males do, considering the same a fitting finale for a marital row. This was their first quarrel, and Priscilla felt that the earth was shaking under her feet.

She slipped into a kimono and sat down by the window. It was not quite dark, but the street below was very quiet; so was the little flat—just a soft, contented sound from the crib in the corner. The silence added to her loneliness. Of course little Gerald was the dearest, sweetest, most precious darling in the wide world, but after she had cooed and kissed and patted and rocked all day, to say nothing of the ceremonious bath and airing in the perambulator, she felt it her privilege to associate with people of her own age, after baby had settled himself to sleep all night; preferably Gerald senior, but—and this was what the trouble was all about—he had a drug store, and no one could be trusted with the precious prescription factory from 8 a. m. until 11 p. m. daily but himself. Priscilla was left to amuse herself as best she could.

Suddenly someone threw up a window in the building next door and strains of music came floating over to her. She raised her own window in order to hear better. It was a waltz, and, looking up, she caught a glimpse now and then of passing dancers.

Gerald junior was sleeping now. She took away the bottle, covered him snugly—and then she went to her desk. Long ago she had tucked away an engraved card somewhere in a pigeonhole. She found it under the baby's weight chart.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald St. Clair
STUDIO DANCING
Classes Tuesday and Friday
From 8 until 11.
Private Lessons as Arranged.
Nestor Building, Philadelphia.

How she had coaxed Gerald to go! He used to love dancing! How marriage changed men! It was different with women. They didn't lose all romance in two short years.

Then she thought of something. Why not go to dancing school alone? Many women did!

She rolled baby's bed as quietly as she could to the window and pulled the shade to the top. If she left a bright light burning in the room she could look over at him after every dance to make sure he was all right.

In a few minutes she was dressed in a year-old white gown and black slippers and stockings, but she felt like Cinderella in satin and crystal going to her first ball.

The preliminaries were a little trying to timid Priscilla, but the delight of dancing more than made up for the effort. As she had planned, after every dance she went to the window for a peep at the baby, who lay, as she had left him, sound asleep in his bed close to the window.

Priscilla laughed softly to herself. How splendidly her plan had worked! Two hours of pleasure like this once a week would keep her going hundreds of lonely evenings at home alone. "What Gerald does not know does not hurt him!" she reflected smiling. "I'm not doing anyone in the world a bit of harm."

The class work on a new one-step took a little longer than usual, and by the time it was over Priscilla was frantic with anxiety. She made straight for the window and looked down at Baby Gerald's window.

She put her hand suddenly to her mouth to stifle a scream. She was just in time to see two masculine arms lift baby from his bed and disappear.

She had locked the door and no one else but Gerald had a key. But Gerald had no pepper-and-salt clothes, and the two arms that held her precious baby were encased in rough tweed!

Priscilla ran! Like a flash she was down the stairs, out on the street, then up the stairs of her own building. The door of her apartment was standing open and—Gerald junior was gone!

She tried to reach the telephone, but the floor was waving and everything was dancing before her eyes. She sat down an instant until things should get steadier—then quietly fainted away.

The next morning Gerald senior sat holding one of Priscilla's hands. Baby Gerald lay cooing in his crib and everything seemed delightfully peaceful and happy to the little woman in bed. "If you don't mind, Gerald, dear, will you please tell me all over again how you rushed home for baby when you got the message your grandmother was passing through town and wanted to see her only great-grandson?"

So he told her again. "Whose coat had you on, dear?" "Sam's, my clerk's. I had only ten minutes to get to the train and in my rush I got the wrong one."

"And you're sure you don't mind my going to dancing school?"

"Yes, I do mind! It was a shame you had to go alone. After this we'll get Sally to stay Friday nights to look after the baby and we'll go fox-trotting together."

Kansas City Stock Market.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Nov. 15.—Beef cattle sold 10 to 15c higher after Wednesday last week, but stockers and feeders quit at the low point. There was a good clearance of stockers and feeders, in spite of the large holdovers from day to day during the week. Total receipts today are 26,000 cattle, beef grades steady and active, best grades of stockers and feeders 10 to 25 cents above last week, medium and low grades steady to weak.

Probably as large a percentage as any time heretofore is stockers and feeders today, which leaves a shortage of beef cattle, and the late market found buyers in a willing frame of mind. Top native beef steers sold at $9.85 and short fed steers sold at $7.50 to $8.50. Cows and bulls held up better than steers last week, good heavy cows selling at $6 to $6.75, heavy bulls $5 to $5.65, veal calves up to $10.00, and these kinds are fully steady today.

Country demand is stronger today, and choice Panhandle and Colorado yearlings and twos are selling at $7.10 to $7.75, fancy white-face stock calves up to $8.50. Western range stock cattle will be scarce after this week, as the mountain country has already had heavy snow. There is a large supply of medium class stock cattle, selling at $6 to $6.75, and some common grades, off color, around $5.75. Stock cows and heifers are in good demand, and many shipments went to Oklahoma and the range country last week.

Hogs sold higher after Tuesday last week, but a big run at Chicago today caused a decline of 10 to 15 cents. Receipts here are 9,000 head, top $6.70, bulk of sales $6.40 to $6.65. Both packers and order buyers paid the top price today, which means that hogs of any weight above 180 pounds are eligible to the top, if they have the quality and finish. Packers have exhibited larger capacity for supplies recently, and increasing receipts were taken care of at advancing prices last week. However, a six-dollar market is still the objective of the buying side.

Sheep and lambs sold unevenly last week, but averaged steady, top lambs $8.85 on Friday. Today receipts are 11,000 head, market 10c lower, due to weaker prices at Chicago and Omaha. Top lambs brought $8.60 today, both westerns and natives bringing that price. Fat ewes are worth $5.25 to $5.75, yearlings $6.50 to $7.25, wethers $5.75 to $6.25. Feeding stock is in liberal supply, but will be scarce after this week.

Prices are not much changed, except that feeding and aged breeding ewes are lower. Feeding lambs sell at $7.75 to $8.25, feeding yearlings $6.50 to $7.00, feeding ewes, $4.25 to $5.00, breeding ewes $5.50 to $7.00.

No Sponges for the Cake.

The girl that Brown married was beautiful, musical and all that sort of thing, but she was not strong on frizzling beef and mashing potatoes. However, she questioned the neighbor ladies and did her best.

"Billy, dear," remarked the young bride as hubby returned at the usual hour, "I have made lovely pies for supper. I was going to have sponge cake, too, but my plans were upset."

"That's too bad," responded Billy, looking like a real disappointment. "What's the trouble?"

"It was all the druggist's fault," was the surprising rejoinder of wife. "He forgot to send around the sponges."

Mrs. F. Woodard and Mrs. S. J. McKee, who were called here by the death of the late W. F. Woodard, returned last night to their homes in St. Joseph.

AGAINST EARLY MARRIAGE

Magazine Writer Says Men Should Be 25 and Women 23 and Better Even Older.

And so they were married and lived happily ever afterward. There the old tales stop, with never a word concerning the accomplishment of that satisfactory result. The boy prince and the girl princess married and were therefore happy. Fiction, romance, artists, photographers, poets, and musicians have pictured the young girl as a bit of delicate Sevres ware; the youth of twenty as the daring hero, strong and conquering. She is portrayed as an idyllic dreamer; he is capable of planning and accomplishing great deeds.

Such is romance, but what are the facts when a boy and girl follow the promptings of their fancy and marry? Only a consensus of opinion from physicians, eugenics and the divorce court could answer this question. In most of the states of the Union there are more marriages of girls between the ages of sixteen and twenty than between the ages of twenty and twenty-six. More boys are married between seventeen and twenty-one than between twenty-two and thirty.

The natural conclusion of medical science—that science which touches both the souls and bodies of human beings—is that a man is not really fitted for marriage until he is at least twenty-five and that if he waits until nearly thirty he is a thousand times more certain of proving a good husband than if he married before he was twenty-five. The girl is not fully grown before she is twenty-three or a little older and until that time she needs all her strength in attaining her maturity.

While sentimentality may urge early marriage, all physical and moral facts refute this dictum. People have no right to marry until they know themselves and are fit to assume the responsibilities of life. Youth is ignorant of itself and of its relation to others.—John Stillwell in the December Mother's Magazine.

WANTED LETTER; GOT 3,000.

Published Appeal of "Lonely Soldier" Brings a Surfeit.

London.—The story of the "lonely soldier" at the front, published in a London newspaper, describing how he shrank away shamefaced and empty handed when the postal lorries rumbled in and eager hands shot up for letters and parcels from the dear ones at home, has had an amusing sequel. Within three days there arrived ninety huge parcels for the lonely one, six bags of smaller parcels and 3,000 letters!

Again a Manchester paper printed a letter from a corporal in the Second South Lancshires saying he was probably unique as a man who had not received a single communication from the home land since the war began. That corporal's next letter to the paper was very brief, "I've received 320 letters and papers, and I'm steadily working through the replies."

ANTI-AIN'T ASSOCIATION.

Kansas Students Hold That the Word Ain't Nice.

Hays, Kan.—Organization of an "Anti-ain't association" has just been completed by students at the Fort Hays (Kan.) normal school.

The association has for its purpose the teaching of its members, among whom are most of the students in the school, the correct use of simple English, the abolition of long, unnecessary words and especially the abolition from their vocabularies of the word "ain't."

The association was organized by P. Casper Harvey, professor of English, in one of the classes and has spread gradually through the school. Misuse of the words "come," "came" and "nice" also is under the ban.

FINDS OLD TRAP.

Used by Hunters 100 Years Ago in Wisconsin in Search For Furs.

Wausau, Wis.—Edward Young of Wausau has brought an old hand forged trap, believed to be from 75 to 100 years old, to the city. Mr. Young found the trap in the roots of an over-turned dead tree near Kempster a few days ago while hunting and fishing in that locality.

The trap is made of steel and is very rusty. A root of the tree had grown around the trap, which had been released. It is believed that the trap was placed there years ago when the Hudson Bay people worked this locality for furs.

CHEMISTS REPLACE COOKS IN GERMANY

Artificial Eggs and Laboratory Milk Now Offered.

London.—By German government order Sundays and Wednesdays are the only days exempt from the new restrictions on the use of meat. German newspapers publish schedules prepared by the German federal council controlling the consumption of meat. The announcement is made that meat supplies must be conserved. The schedule, as forwarded by Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent, is as follows:

Mondays and Thursdays: Restaurants shall offer no meat, fish, fowl or dishes cooked in lard, bacon or dripping.

Tuesdays and Fridays: Butchers shall sell no raw or cooked meats.

Saturdays: Pork shall not be sold. Thus far no restriction on the cooking of meat in the home has been placed by the federal council.

Copies of German papers contain some tempting offers of chemical food which the public is asked to purchase. Some of these appeals follow:

"Certain Sale.—Artificial omelets, artificial butter, chemical honey and marmalade, artificial coffee and milk in any quantities. Packets made up ready for sale at 10 to 20 pfennige (2 and 4 cents). Ritterstrasse, 80.

"Chemical food is the modern food. All information and receipts at Wollson's, the chemist engineer, Charlottenburg.

"Egg Powder.—To replace natural eggs. Each packet is equal to two eggs, for a penny. Millions of packets have already been sold. Trademark: 'Prima Nova,' Neukolln, near Berlin.

"Starch Syrup.—Immense nutritive power. In cases of eight or nine hundred weight at Kalek's, Charlottenstrasse, 70.

"To replace natural eggs in the kitchen write to Levin, chemist, who will send recipes and explanations for 10 marks ($2.50)."

The prize perhaps should be given to Ludwig Holzapfel of Leipzig for the following:

"The cheapest meat for concentration camps, large establishment, etc., is whale's meat, which is very nourishing and rich in albuminous substances. Barrels of a hundredweight can be sent on trial for 60 marks ($15)."

Bull Attacks Pastor Piety. Wabash, Ind.—The Rev. Samuel Piety, aged sixty-two, pastor of a Disciples of Christ church in the southern part of the county, was seriously injured when he was attacked by a bull. Piety had gone into a barn on a friend's farm, when he was attacked by the animal. He was thrown almost across the barn and then trampled before his cries for help brought a passer-by, who seized a pitchfork and drove the bull away. Piety suffered two broken ribs and a fractured collarbone.

If the reader wants stronger proof than the following statement and experience of a resident of Maryville, what can it be?

Mrs. J. B. Kissinger, 707 E. Second street, Maryville, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for some time. I had awful pains through my hips. I was tired out and weak and had such bearing down pains in my back and sides that I couldn't rest well at night. A few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills relieved the pains and my health picked up."

The Pious Boarder.

It was one of those cheaper boarding-houses on the North Side in Chicago and the boarders soon noticed that the newest boarder had a very regular habit.

At each meal, as he came in, he would stand behind his chair for a moment, look down at the table and say, "The Book of Hebrews, thirteenth chapter, eighth verse." Then he would proceed to do justice to the meal.

This continued for several weeks, during which time the newest boarder continued the habit, the other boarders remarking sotto voce, that a deeply religious young man he was.

Then, one day, a boarder happened to note that the young man always said the same thing: "The Book of Hebrews, thirteenth chapter, eighth verse." Out of curiosity, this boarder looked up the reference to see if it had any significance.

It had. This is what he read: "The same yesterday, and today, and forever."—National Monthly.
